

Magnanimity.

We have never been among those who judged that the harmony or stability of the country could be advanced by exacting the lives of the more guilty of the rebel leaders; and now that the lapsing of twenty months gives little less than absolute assurance that the scaffold will have no victim, we are more in a mood of rejoicing than of lamentation.

Jury Commissioners.

It will be remembered that Governor Curtin, in his last annual message, recommended the passage by the Legislature of a general jury law changing the present mode of selecting jurors throughout the Commonwealth.

The National Union Committee.

The National Union Committee has adopted the following excellent resolutions: —Whereas, The desertion by the President of those whose generous confidence placed him in his high trust has brought the National Union party into a new and untried position at a time of great peril to the government, thereby calling for the exercise of the greatest vigilance, firmness, and patriotism on the part of those who would uphold the principles and sustain the measures which have carried the nation through the war; therefore,

THE PRESIDENT AND THE COLORED MEN.

A few days ago, several intelligent colored men from North Carolina had a long interview with President Johnson. One of them had been Andy's playmate in youth in his native State, and brought to the recollection of the President a number of familiar incidents with which his Accidency was amazingly pleased.

The subscriber will sell the following property at private sale: —One House at Portia Station, on the R. R., with 2 acres land. Suitable for store room or a dwelling.

Whipping Negroes.

The people of the entire South have been specially educated to "lick niggers," but the people of North Carolina excel in this most chivalrous pastime. In the palmy days of slavery, the N. C.'s walloped their "chattels" with a grace and a vigor peculiarly their own; and since the new order of things begot of the war, they seem loath to forego their favorite custom.

Disgraceful Scene in the House.

The House on Saturday took up Mr. Stevens' enabling bill, and an earnest and excited debate followed, at the conclusion of which a spicy scene occurred. Mr. Ashley, of Ohio, was on the floor, and alluded to the Democratic members as being closely allied with those who were lately in rebellion.
