

DIRECTIONS TO A FIRE COMPANY—

The moment you hear an alarm of fire, scream like a pair of parrots. Run any way, except the right way; for the farthest way round is the nearest way to the fire.

Keep yelling all the time; and, if you can't make night hideous enough yourself, kick all the dogs you come across, and set them yelling too: 'twill help amazingly.

Should the roof begin to smoke, get to work in good earnest, and make any man "smoke" that interrupts you. If it is summer, and there are fruit trees in the lot, cut them down, to prevent the fire from roasting the apples.

Should the "deavouring element" still pursue the "seven tenor of its way," you had better ascend to the second story.

Of course you will attend to the mirror. The farther it can be thrown, the more pieces will be made. If anybody objects, smash it over his head.

ITEMS.—A poor man once went to a miser and said, "I have a favor to ask."

If your sister, while engaged with a sweet-heart, asks you to bring a glass of water from an adjoining room, start on the errand, but you need not return.

A rich Philadelphian contractor, in a severe fit of rheumatism, told his physician he suffered the pains of the damned.
