MEMORANDA.—S. B. McCormick, of Johnstown, has become local editor of the Alleghenian Patriot & Union. The Blair County Court commences next Monday, instant. Mr. James Quinn, of Johnstown, recently appointed to a lieutenantancy in the regular army, failed to pass a satisfactory examination before the Military Commissioning Committee. He went under the name of a grammar. A thorough knowledge of grammar appears to us to be a very important qualification in a soldier. How could it have been had the late war conducted on other than strictly grammatical principles? Traugh, of the Alleghenian Standard, was fishing the other day, and caught thirty trout. Vol. Moore & Co., who purchased the Duquesne Iron Works a few weeks ago for $100,000, have backed out of the bargain, and now refuse to take the works at the price. The Johnstown Woolen Factory is about to suspend operations shortly. The ball clubs of Johnstown will expend in improving their grounds, this year. A constable in Latrobe, named King, attempted to arrest one Hughes the other day. Hughes resisted, and drew the constable down; whereupon he drew a pistol and fired upon the constable, striking him in the back and wounding him severely. The Alleghenian Fire Company, of Hollidaysburg, has busted. The borough authorities would not let the boys who "ran with the machine" to frequent the engine house on Monday. Col. John D. O'Connell, of the 1st Army, was in town on Monday. The wife of William Orms, of Johnstown, attempted to commit suicide by cutting her throat one day last week, but did not succeed. She was laboring under a temporary fit of insanity at the time. We heretofore published the particulars of the poisoning of the Young family, in Alleghenian county, by tartar emetic, and the death of Mr. Young from the effects of it. A startling sequel to the sad story is the fact that Mrs. Young and her eldest daughter, were last week arrested and committed to the Hollidaysburg jail on suspicion of having deliberately and systematically administered the poison to the family. Another accident occurred on the Pennsylvania Railroad on Monday night. A locomotive ran over a cow and a mule near Shafton, and was derailed from the track and badly demolished. The engineer, Mark O. Knowlton, was killed outright, and three others were less injured. Mr. Knowlton was a married man, and resided in the neighborhood of Johnstown. At the late meeting of the Mountaineer Base Ball Club of Ebensburg, the first nine of the ensuing season. Two contested games, between picked players, were played last week. It is understood that a match game between nine players and nine unmarried players, members of the club, will come off on Monday afternoon next, commencing at 7 o'clock. The play-grounds are the same as used last season. The raftsmen returning in large numbers from their "down the river." They report the market extremely dull. Col. R. Doy, an attaché of the Land Department at Harrisburg, and formerly of Pittsburgh, is in town. He is gay, smiling and young, as of yore. The quantity of lumber stacked in the vicinity of Shafton, and awaiting shipment over the road, is unprecedentedly large. New buildings, for business purposes otherwise, are being erected in Alleghenian county. Wm. H. Dearmit has been appointed Postmaster at Huntingdon. It is reported that Bedford county does not intend to State a farthing for taxes, and the entire debt of the county is not $5,000. The Cambria Iron Company sustained two night schools at its expense in Johnstown last winter. There were well attended. It is likely that the Alleghenian mills will remain idle all

THE VIRTUE OF PRINTER'S INK.—We clip the following paragraph from the Alleghenian Tribune, and direct the especial attention of our business men thereto:—A few days since, one of our business men, in speaking of the benefits of advertising, informed us that a circular, announcing his business and location, which he recently had distributed, had brought him one customer, whose patronage, since that date, had amounted to over $20. He knew the circular had secured the customer, for she so stated to him. The profit realized on the sale of $20 worth of goods paid for the circulars and left him a surplus. Other customers, of whose purchases he kept no account, were secured, as they stated, in the same way; and doubtless many more were attracted to his store by the same means. We refer to this merely to show that advertising pays. Some business men think that advertising does not pay, because their customers do not inform them that they read their circulars or advertisements, and were thereby induced to call. No man ever advertised judiciously without being handsomely rewarded. Did it pay in the above case? Certainly; and it will always pay, although the person advertising may not know exactly how, or when.

NORMAL SCHOOLS.—The Superintendent of Common Schools of Cambria county, in the last number of the Teachers' Advocate, gives notice that Normal Schools will be opened in various parts of the county on the 17th June next—provided this time will suit a majority of the teachers desiring to attend. The location of the schools will be fixed by the Superintendent so as to conduce to the convenience of the greatest number of teachers. The tuition, in schools of twenty-five pupils and upward, will be $2 per month. In schools of a smaller number, the compensation of the teacher will be $50 per month, the sum to be raised by assessing an equal amount upon each pupil. Tuition to be paid monthly. For full particulars, address the Co. Superintendent at Johnstown.

TO A CORRESPONDENT.—"Tyro." By reference to Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, you will find the meaning of the French term "on dit" to be as follows—"They say, or it is said; hence, a flying rumor." It therefore follows that the construction of the following sentence is entirely correct—"It is a late on dit (flying rumor) that Jeff. Davis will be tried in May." The assurance you received to the contrary from one whose sole knowledge of French consists of an acquaintance with the fact that "Rupert" in that language means "Robert" in ours, is like a great many other assurances emanating from the same source—erroneous.

DIED.—In Strongstown, Indiana county, on Tuesday morning, 16th instant, of consumption, Andrew Jackson Litzinger, aged about 19 years. The deceased was the youngest son of Charles Litzinger, Sr., deceased.

—At Latrobe, Westmoreland county, on the 6th instant, Kate M., daughter of James Fenlon and wife of Joseph A. Head, aged 29 years, 1 month and 24 days.

PRESBYTERY.—The Blairsville Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church will convene in the Presbyterian church of Ebensburg on next Tuesday, 23d instant, at 10 1/2 o'clock, a. m. The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. Mr. Hughes, of Blairsville. A sermon will be preached on Monday evening preceding by Rev. Mr. Agnew, of Johnstown.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—We direct attention to the advertisement of Mr. Jas. B. Young, Ebensburg, offering a tract of timber land in Cambria township, a steam circular saw-mill, &c., &c., for sale. See card of Dr. D. W. Zeigler, dentist. He comes among us well recommended for proficiency in his profession. Rooms above R. R. Thomas' store.

REJECTED.—The high prices, which have been prevalent since the opening of the war, have been rejected, and old-time prices have been adopted in their stead, at J. M. Thompson's cheap cash store.—Particular attention is called to the large assortment of hats, for spring and summer wear, just received.

COLLECTOR.—On Saturday last, the President sent the name of Mr. Edward Roberts, of Ebensburg, to the Senate, for confirmation as Collector of Internal Revenue for this (the 17th) district. On Monday, with unparalleled promptitude, the Senate refused to confirm the nomination. Who next?

FRUIT.—It is said that the peach buds have not been injured by the cold weather of either winter or spring, and that the yield of that luscious fruit will doubtless be large next fall. The other fruits also look well, and promise abundant crops.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE. LETTER FROM HEMLOCK—SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—BASE BALL—THE HIGHLAND B. B. C. OPEN THE CAMPAIGN WITH A GREAT GAME—SOME IDEAS AFFORDED OF HOW IT WAS PLAYED—FINE WEATHER, &c. HEMLOCK, April 15, 1867.

To the Editor of The Alleghenian: Mr. James Hagan, a coal miner in one of Messrs. E. E. Evans & Co.'s mines, met with a serious accident on Thursday. He was undermining a "pillar," and while shoveling the under coal, the top gave way and caught him in the fall. He was badly bruised, but fortunately no bones were broken. No fears are entertained as to his recovery.

The Highland B. B. C. had a meeting and quite a spirited game of ball on Saturday. I have not been able to get the score of the game, but have the following report from a looker-on:

A. and B., Captains, with A.'s nine to the bat. First inning. Batsman No. 1 made a nice stroke to field, and reached first base on all fours. No. 2, a beautiful stroke to right field; in a prodigious effort to make a home run, this player sprained his ankle, and was put out on third base. Carried off the field on a rail. No. 3, an old stager but out of practice, made a handsome foul, and went out.—No. 4 struck out. Capt. A. scored one on this inning, batsman No. 1 having succeeded in getting home.

B.'s nine to the bat. No. 1, a heavy batter, reached first base. No. 2 forced No. 1, and both played out on bases. No. 3 made a weighty stroke and a home run, coming in at home base on a back-slide. No. 4, on the strength of a long stroke, made the second base after the style of No. 3's home run. The second baseman doubted the honesty of this kind of play, and appealed to the umpire. The umpire decided it was "all right." No. 4 so much delighted with the decision that he neglected his business and was played out on third base. B.'s score, one—the home run.

I omit particulars of ensuing innings. Capt. A. lost a man or two on each inning till the fifth, when, having nobody left but himself and short stop, he stopped short. Capt. B. was presented with one black eye, his catcher got a sprained wrist, his pitcher a bloody nose, and the rest of his men were more or less, but especially more, crippled.

Notwithstanding these little drawbacks, the play in the main was good for beginners; and to show that the H. B. B. C. is in earnest and not to be deterred by trifles, the members have resolved to continue the exercises by playing a second game on next Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

Weather pleasant, and everybody engaged in making garden. O.
