DEPUBLICAN CONVENTION !-The "Republican State Convention" will meet at the "Herdic House," in Williams. port, on Wednesday, 26th of June next, at 10 o'clock, a. m., to nominate a candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court, and to initiate proper measures for the ensuing State canvass. As heretofore, the Convention will be composed of Representative and Senatorial Delegates, chosen in the usual way, and equal in number to the whole of the Senators and Representatives in the General Assembly. By order of the State Central Committee.

F. JORDAN, Chairman. GEO. W. HAMRESLY, Secretaries. A. W. BENEDICT, J. ROBLET DUNGLISON, Equality.

No country has ever maintained a wider or more absolute distinction among the various classes of its people than that maintained in our own, in times past, between the white race and the black .-Not simply that the one was the bondman and the other the master, but the one had before the law and by the law no rights in himself. Even though free, he often was refused by the law to testify against the superior race. The reasoning that was used to defend the keeping of him in bondage was the same that justified his degradation before the law. In Pennsylvania and in other Northern States, we said and do yet say by our law that the black is an inferior being, and therefore we deny him equality, to wit, in the right of the ballot. In Carolina, they reasoned that the black is an inferior being, and therefore denied him equality, to wit, in his freedom. His assumed inferiority was the ground and justification of his bondage in the one case, and his restriction from suffrage in the other. In both cases, he was deprived of rights, and by the same logic, such as it was. In both cases, it was equally good, or equally bad. The one right of which he was deprived, it is true, was political, and the other natural, for we do not assume that the elective franchise is a natural right. But in this instance, the distinction works no difference. It is usually a conceded privilege that political as other societies may admit to membership, or reject from it, the inhabitants of other climes or the citizens er subjects of other States. But the pleading of even this privilege is of no force here. The black was here at the formation of nearly all our State organisations. His residence here dates back of the time of establishing the majority of the early governments of the country. Nor did he come here voluntarily. If it ever was right in us to wrest this land from the red man, and claim it ours, because of the labor expended on it, then it was also the property of the black race for the same reason. He has been on this continent since its earliest settlement. He certainly has had the same right to form States and societies as we, yet we have ever depied him a voice in our affairs of State, while if he had attempted to form a government for himself, we would have hung him for treason.

One of the most common, yet most foolish, arguments, and always offered as though it was sure to clinch the nail, is, that equality before the law will work social equality. It is usually put in this form : "Would you like a nigger to marry your daughter?" Most certainly not, if we had one. We prefer white people for associates, not to speak of sone-iu-law and daughters-in-law. To those who fear the social equality of the two races, we offer the following thoughts: The Christian religion, since its foundation, has been rent by many feuds, and degraded by many corruptions. Its adherents are to-day separated into more than a bundred parties, so that if a man on reaching his majority would set out to examine thoroughly the tenets and forms of each before he would decide upon the correctness of any, he would have passed the prime of his days before his task would be complete. But never in all the history of the world, never in a single instance in any seet or party, has distinction been made between races either in discipline, oreed, confession of faith, or form of worship. To-day, the Catholic church has in her fold the white and the black; both receive the sacrament alike; both are alike liable to her denunciations. Her laymen may become priests, her priests bishops and archbishops, her bishops and archbishops eardinals, and from among in the fourth, the formal terms of exher priests, if not among her bishops, are the withdrawal of Russian troops; in the men as black as ebony, and there is nothing in her, or in any part of her constitutions or regulations, to prevent the blackest of her priests from rising to be the pope of the Catholic world .-In the Protestant churches, there is alike an absence of all distinction. Both races eat the same memorial bread and drink the same wine. Either may rise to dignities, for both are equal in all things before the law of these churches. And this has been so for cighteen centuries .-Yet the white Catholic and the white

Protestant both rise from their worshiping to utter imprecations on their black brother. The equality enjoined by our religion has never worked social equality. Why? If religious equality will not work social equality, why will that result follow from political equality?

The "Democratic" Party.

The late call of the Chairman of the Democratic Committee of Cambria county for an executive session of that body in Ebensburg on the 15th proximo, has brought to recollection the fact that there is yet in this country a political organization calling itself the Democratic party. So little is seen or heard of this party that we are apt to forget its existence .-Once a year, just prior to an election, it starts up from its obscurity, steps into the field with a flourish of trumpets, gets scundly whipped, and then falls back into its old state of lethargy. So far as the accomplishment of any great end is concerned, it might as well be dead as be the living skeleton it is.

We are all familiar with the causes which have led to the dissolution of the Democratic party. Years before the breaking out of the rebellion, it sold itself to the pro-slavery aristocracy of the South. Its Northern leaders were a servile set of dirt-eaters, who for a few crumbs of office did not hesitate to barter away their manhood. They encouraged the South to inaugurate the rebellion, promising that the war should be confined to territory north of Mason and Dixon's line. During the long and dreary night of our national peril, they rejoiced over our defeats and mourned over our successes. They did all in their power throughout the war to embarrass the federal government by discouraging enlistments, encouraging desertious from the army, declaring the rebellion could not be subdued, and by endeavoring to cry down the credit of the country. In a word, during our great struggle the Democratio party was to all practical intents and ourposes as much an enemy of Liberty and nion as Jefferson Davis and his myr.

This, in brief, is the record of the Democratic party, and nothing can wash away its hideous stains. Is it any wonder such an organization is permitted to sink out of sight! The people can never have confidence in it again. Aside from the eternal stigms attaching to its name, it seeks now, with characteristic dishonesty, to build its platforms upon dead issues of the past. It is the old story of the drowning man clutching at straws repeated.

THE evidence taken by the House Judiciary Committee relative to the case of John H. Surratt bas just been made public. The most important portion of it is the testimony of L. J. M'Millan, surgeon of the steamer Peruvian, plying between Montreal and Liverpool. Dr. M'M. testified that Surratt came on board the Peruviau, at Montreal, September 11, 1865, and was introduced to bim under the name of M'Carthy; that becoming well acquainted in a few days, Surratt gave his true name, and confessed that he and Booth had planned the abduction of President Lincoln, but finding this unfeasible, had changed their plan; that Surratt affirmed he had gone to Montreal about this time, and was on his way back to Washington when, at St. Albans, he first beard of the assassination; that he made his escape thence into Canada, where he was concealed from April till September, when he took passage on board the Peruvian. Upon the arrival of the Peruvian at Liverpool, Dr. M'Millan went before the American Consul and made affidavit to the above facts, resulting in the capture of Surratt after a chase extending over balf the world.

THE Russian treaty has been made public. In the first article, the boundaries of the ceded territory are defined; in the second is transferred to the United States the title of all public property, with the exception of the Greek Churches, which are to remain the property of their members; in the third, it is stipulated that the inhabitants, excepting unsivilized tribes, shall, after three years residence, be admitted to citizenship of the United States, while the Esquimaux and Indians shall be subject to our authority; her cardinals the pope is chosen. Among change are defined; the fifth provides for sixth, the cession of territory and dominion is declared to be free and unincumbered by any reservations, and in the seventh, the date of ratification is fixed.

> THE Georgia and Mississippi injunction cases have been postponed by the Supreme Court, and Attorney General Stanbury, not satisfied with the postponement, has moved the court to dismiss the bills for want of jurisdiction. This motion may summarily and ingloriously end the agitation of the legal insurrection.
