a world wide reputation of being the best milkers known. In many cases, however, our native cows are equal in value for both milk and butter to any blooded stock in existence, but such cows are scarce, and cannot be found for sale, except in rare cases.

For working oxen, the hardy Devons are most popular, as that breed will thrive on pasturage where the Durhams would barely exist-Rural American.

GATHERING FRUIT .- The appearance and value of fruit depend very much upon when and how it is gathered.

Peaches should be left on the trees until fully ripe, and then gathered carefully with thumb and finger and at once laid into the basket or box in which they are to be marketed. If the bloom is rubbed off the peach by rough handling, its beauty of appearance is injured and it will decay much sooner than it untouched. Formerly it was supposed that the peach must be gathered before ripe in order to Middlings, Chop, ship it any distance; but practical experience has proved that ripe fruit not quite soft, will carry just as well as unripe, and command a much better price.

Pears and apples should never be picked from the tree by breaking the stems. Unless the stem will separate freely from the tree, the fruit is not ripe; it will neither eat nor cook good, and is only fit for those who want a touch of cholera morbus. Apples, as soon as gathered, may be sent direct to market; but nearly every variety of pear is improved in appearance and quality by keeping in close dark drawers, wrapped in flaunel or soft paper, or packed in bran a few days.

For profit, and in order to obtain the highest price, all fruit pays to be assorted into two or more grades. A few scattering large berries, apples or pears, in a quart or a bushel, do not assist in advancthemselves will bring the highest price, and often induce the dealer to buy the small fruit in order to get the large.

GREASING WAGONS .- But few people are aware that they do wagous and carriages more injury by greasing too plentifully than in any other way. A well made wheel will endure common wear from ten to twenty-five years, if care is taken to use the right kind and proper amount of grease; but if this is not attended to, they will be used up in five or six years. Lard should never be used on a wagon, for it will penetrate the hub and work its way out around the tenens of the spokes, and spoil the wheel. Tailow is the best lubricator for wood axle-trees, and custor oil for iron.

Just enough grease should be applied to the spindle to give it a light coating ; this is better than more, for the surplus put on will work out at the ends, and be forced by the shoulder band and out washars into the hub around the outside of the therefore sell cheaper, than any competitor.
