LETTER FROM OUR UBIQUITOUS COBRESPONDENT -HE DESCRIBES & MIDNIGHT COUNCIL.

EBENSBURG, Oct. 19, 1869. To the Editors of The Alleghanian : The Happy Family seem to have set tled down since their late labors in the north of the county proved so disastrous to the principles they advocated. Should they resume their unfinished feats statesmanship, the Republican party will have no trouble in carrying the county by an overwhelming majority for Grant and Colfax. I was much amused, after the late election, to hear of a midnight council held in Ebensburg by the Family. The H-S-, surrounded by his posse, severely lectured his young and sapheaded statesmen. Said he : "F-, you were a drag on us all over the North. It was utterly impossible for us to persuade any sane man to vote for you. The Democracy certainly made a mistake in nominating you." Fgot in a bad humor at this, and replied : "You knew that if you didn't nominate me, you would have to nominate the other if possible. But I think we had more than this to contend with. Here was G- abusing everybody, and talking eternally of the finances of the country, of which he was as ignorant as a sucking dove. He made a fool of himself wherevin his case. er he went." G- insisted that they had no right to blame him. "The great trouble," he said, "was this, that the people did not like the way in which certain Co. offices are managed, and the present incumbents thereof were drawbacks to the success of the party. It would have been better to have left the D-- and the C-at home." The D- allowed that if the Chairman of the Co. Com. had done as he promised, viz, controlled the South of the county, and the S-, as he promised, had controlled the North, all would be well; but it would have been better if a majority of the Family had stayed at home and left the whole campaign to be managed by Boggs, Esq., and others. Turn out, Tanthe people. Then again, L- was not ners, members of the Grant club, and Revery much of a favorite; he wouldn't publicans generally. spend any money, nor treat, nor anything, and the impression was general that if there was any chance for an election, he

He was bitten five weeks before, through the hand, by a mad dog. Odd Stove Plates, Grates, and Fire Brick the past campaign in this city affords some pleasant recollections. There was no rioting, no interference with meetings or processions as in many other cities and towns. The meetings of both parties were quiet and orderly, just as they should be with a free-thinking people.

The 13th of October was a dull day, almost oppressively dull for an election day. Probably but two incidents worthy of mention transpired in the city during the day, both in the First Ward. One was the depriving of a prominent Republican of his privilege as a voter because he had bet an old hat on the result of the election ! The Republican in question was very much chagrined in consequence of his disfranchisement, while his political opponents were proportionably delighted. It is to be hoped that the lesson will not be forgotten. The other incident came about in this wise : On election morning, a freeman of the First indulged freely in the "potent." While under its influence, he was prevailed upon to accept a "split" ticket. Before voting, however, he staggered home. His wife, a woman of muscular build, found the ticket in his possession, and was highly incensed that her husband should think of doing other than the "straight" thing. So she forthwith procured the proper ticket, marched her lord to the polls, held his arm up to the window till his ballot was received, and saw it safe in the box, when she dismissed him with a sound lecture-much to the amusement of those about the polls.

From the time the polls closed until early on Wednesday morning, the Grant Club room was filled to overflowing with enthusiastic "Rads," who were kept in constant good humor by the telegraph and our jolly friend, Harry Boggs.

The ladies of the Methodist Episcopal congregation intend holding a festival in the unfinished portion of their church edifice here on Friday and Saturday, 30th and 31st instant, the proceeds to go to the building fund. The object is a worthy one. If any Ebensburg ladies or gentlemen wish to spend a pleasant evening, let them come down. They will be well treated.

We had a slight fall of snow on Saturday last-the first of the season. Very truly, DAMON.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM JOHNSTOWN-A BATCH OF LOCAL ITEMS. JOHNSTOWN, Oct. 19, 1868.

To the Editors of The Alleghanian :

would not have been nominated. In this plain way of reasoning, the Family whiled away the greater portion of the night, and after the council broke up, an outsider would not have imagined that a single wave of trouble had crossed their peaceful breasts. REX.

THE CAMPAIGN .- The Ebensburg Tanners celebrated our great victory of the second Tuesday by an impromptu torchlight procession of Friday evening. After the procession, the Grant club met in the Town Hall, where speeches were delivered by Hon. A. A. Barker and Geo. M. Reade, Esq. A formal celebration will be held to-morrow (Friday) evening, when there will be the grandest torchlight procession of the campaign, with music, fireworks, and some entirely new and original features of rejoicing. Speeches will be delivered by Hon. Harry White, H. A.

PERSONAL .- For the first time in the history of Harrisburg, that city has elected a Republican Mayor; and not only elected him, but elected him by the decisive majority of 246. Mr. H. is well known here, and his many friends will be glad to learn that he has been invested with the toga of the highest municipal office of the capital of the State. Success forever !
