CARE OF HOUSE PLANTS.—Do not remove the plants to the house until there is danger of frost; and then give them abundance of air and light.

Perhaps the greatest obstacle to success in window gardening lies in the dryness of the air. When houses were warmed in the old fashioned way, by fire-places or wood stoves, with abundance of cracks at the windows and doors to let in fresh air, plants grew very well.

As to watering and ventilating, discrimination should be used. As a general rule, water should be given copiously enough to wet the entire ball of soil; wetting simply is not enough.

How CHINESE MAKE DWARF TREES.—We have all known from childhood how the Chinese cramp their women's feet, and so manage to make them "keepers at home;" but how they contrive to grow miniature pines and oaks in flower pots for half a century has always been much of a secret.

STIR THE SOIL OFTEN WITH A SMALL STICK when it is dry. If insects appear, pick them off, or kill them by fumigating.
