FURS AND MOTHS .- Put the furs in a box so tight that moths cannot get in to lay their eggs. Few boxes are safe for this, but they all may be made so by pasting strips of paper over every joint, including the crack between the lid and cover. Paper bags made of strong paper, without even a pin hole, will noswer; after the furs are put in, paste the mouth of the bag securely. Aromatics of various kinds are more or less repulsive to the insect, but the only sure way is to see that there is no moths in the furs, and then, beating them well, put them where none can get in.

SOUTHERN CROPS .- The crops in the South, according to the journals of that region, are not so promising as they were a lew weeks ago. The usual visitations of rains, the floods and the extraordinary cold spells have seriously injured the cotton. The high winds have bruised and the cold has withered the cotton so that in many places it has become necessary to replant. The grain crops, howover, especially the wheat, in Georgia, it is reported, are doing well.

OIL cloth should never be wetted-if it can possibly be avoided-but merely to be rubbed with a flannel, and polished with a brush of moderate hardness, exactly like a molegany table, and by this simple means the fading of the colors, and the rotting of the onvas, which are inevitably attendant upon the oil cloth being kept in a state of moisture or dampuess, are entirely avoided.
