

The Farmers' Department.

MANURING LANDS.—A great mistake among farmers is to wait until their grass begins to run out before they break up the field and seed anew.

To DESTROY CUT WORMS.—A correspondent of the Franklin Repository writes as follows to that journal: "Last year I saw an article recommending the scattering of cedar branches over fields as destructive to the cut worms."

HOW TURNIPS CAN BE RAISED CHEAPLY.—By sowing the Purple-Top turnip seed at the last dressing of the corn and covering with a light harrow, a couple of hundred bushels of the best turnips can be raised with very little trouble.

THE WAY TO FIND A HUSBAND.—Girls, study more common sense and less wit. More mending of shirts and stockings and less making of bracelets.

LICK ON CATTLE.—Anthracite ashes, sifted through a fine sieve into the hair, is effectual; lay the calves on these backs and sift it all over them; let them scatter the ashes over the floor. It seldom requires two applications and does not injure them.
