

POCKET-BOOK LOST.

LOST on the road between Beaver and...

Prothonotary Weyand and A. G. M....

There will be an Adjourned Court held here on Wednesday, April 25th.

Our welcome visitor, the Pittsburgh Daily Post, comes to us in an entirely new dress...

We have received the April No. of Arthur's Home Magazine, and are glad to be able to state that it continues one of the best magazines of its kind in the land.

The stone work of the bridge over the Pitts. Ft. Wayne & Chicago R. R. in Rochester, gave way on last Friday, causing a detention of the trains for some hours.

Owing to some cause, our usual Harrisburg letter has not come to hand. It has got to be almost an impossibility to get either letters or papers in due time.

An exchange states that Wool is now higher than it has been for forty years. This is owing, we suppose, to the large demand for army goods, and the advanced price of Cotton.

The BEAVER FEMALE SEMINARY, formerly under the control of Rev. McGill, has as will be seen by an advertisement in another column, been re-opened by Rev. Mr. Lavery, who comes here well recommended as a teacher and a man.

We learn from a correspondent that an Exhibition of the pupils of School No. 3, of Industry township, was held in the Church at Industry, Tuesday evening, 18th inst.

OFFICE OF SANITARY COMMISSION Washington, D.C. March 18, '62.

Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt, in good condition, of three (3) boxes of hospital supplies, as per your favor of the 25th January, on behalf of the Lady contributors of Ohio township.

I am, sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant, ALFRED J. BLOOT, Asst. Secretary.

Proceedings of Court.

COMMON PLEAS—(Second week.)

Samuel Moorhead vs. James Daragh. Summons case in Assumpsit.

Chas. Thorn vs. Margaret Higby. Summons Ejectment for four acres of land in Pulaski tp.

Joseph Anderson vs. J. W. Johnston. Summons Case in Assumpsit.

John Swaney vs. Alexander Robertson. Summons Ejectment for a tract of land in Greens tp.

Mary L. Fombelle vs. James De Fombelle. Summons in Assumpsit.

The following persons were granted Licenses to keep Taverns:

John Grabling, New Galilee; Alexander Clark, Beaver borough.

To sell Liquors not less than one Quart.

John S. Dickey, Bridgewater; T. F. Shaffer, Phillipsburgh.

The Friends and Foes of Our Country.

It may, and perhaps has, appeared strange to many that those who now are heaping so much praise and commendation upon Gen. McClellan, were, but a short time ago, the most bitter enemies of the Administration had to contend against.

John W. Forney, in a letter to the Philadelphia Press, which we print in another column, removes the mask and shows the true motives of these men; and who, we will here remark, because of his "expositions of the iniquity of Buchanan and his cabinet, and his fearless and powerful aid to Mr. Lincoln and the Administration in their attempts to crush out this rebellion, has called down on his head the denunciations of Village Locofoco politicians in all sections.

John W. Forney, in a letter to the Philadelphia Press, which we print in another column, removes the mask and shows the true motives of these men; and who, we will here remark, because of his "expositions of the iniquity of Buchanan and his cabinet, and his fearless and powerful aid to Mr. Lincoln and the Administration in their attempts to crush out this rebellion, has called down on his head the denunciations of Village Locofoco politicians in all sections.

John W. Forney, in a letter to the Philadelphia Press, which we print in another column, removes the mask and shows the true motives of these men; and who, we will here remark, because of his "expositions of the iniquity of Buchanan and his cabinet, and his fearless and powerful aid to Mr. Lincoln and the Administration in their attempts to crush out this rebellion, has called down on his head the denunciations of Village Locofoco politicians in all sections.

John W. Forney, in a letter to the Philadelphia Press, which we print in another column, removes the mask and shows the true motives of these men; and who, we will here remark, because of his "expositions of the iniquity of Buchanan and his cabinet, and his fearless and powerful aid to Mr. Lincoln and the Administration in their attempts to crush out this rebellion, has called down on his head the denunciations of Village Locofoco politicians in all sections.

John W. Forney, in a letter to the Philadelphia Press, which we print in another column, removes the mask and shows the true motives of these men; and who, we will here remark, because of his "expositions of the iniquity of Buchanan and his cabinet, and his fearless and powerful aid to Mr. Lincoln and the Administration in their attempts to crush out this rebellion, has called down on his head the denunciations of Village Locofoco politicians in all sections.

John W. Forney, in a letter to the Philadelphia Press, which we print in another column, removes the mask and shows the true motives of these men; and who, we will here remark, because of his "expositions of the iniquity of Buchanan and his cabinet, and his fearless and powerful aid to Mr. Lincoln and the Administration in their attempts to crush out this rebellion, has called down on his head the denunciations of Village Locofoco politicians in all sections.

Daniel E. Sickles' appointment as Brigadier-General has been rejected, unanimously by the Senate.

FOR THE ARGUS.

Mr. Editor: I notice in your last issue a communication from the Rev. D. Mackay, in which he demands of correspondent "H" to show wherein the "venerable Bishop Hopkins" is guilty of "sophism and perversion."

As we are writing, we will concede, for a few moments, to let our belated down, in order to say a few words in answer to the blackguardism of which was published in the Star of last week.

General Grant is at Savannah, on the Tennessee river, sixty miles from Florence, Alabama.

General Beauregard is in command at Corinth, Mississippi, about ten miles from Savannah, Tennessee, with 15,000 men from Pensacola, and Generals Cheatham and Bragg have divisions near by.

General Jackson, with the Confederate army under his command, is now reported to be at Mount Jackson, about thirty miles south of Strasburg.

General Halleck has assigned General Baell to the command of that portion of the Ohio included in the present department of the Mississippi, and General Denver to the command of the District of Kansas.

There is no later news from Island No. 10. On Wednesday all the guns of the upper rebel battery on the Tennessee shore were silenced.

There is no later news from Island No. 10. On Wednesday all the guns of the upper rebel battery on the Tennessee shore were silenced.

There is no later news from Island No. 10. On Wednesday all the guns of the upper rebel battery on the Tennessee shore were silenced.

There is no later news from Island No. 10. On Wednesday all the guns of the upper rebel battery on the Tennessee shore were silenced.

The new gunboat Choocoo arrived from Boston last night.

THE NEWS.

General Burnside's official report of the battle of Newbern states that his loss was ninety-one killed and six hundred and sixty-six wounded, making them mortally.

On Tuesday, the Governors of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and the Committees on Federal Relations of the Legislatures of those States, met in Philadelphia, and adopted resolutions which declare that the Legislature of Pennsylvania and New Jersey should severally urgently memorialize Congress and the Executive of the United States to immediately provide suitable defenses for Delaware Bay, and the harbor of Philadelphia, and, if necessary, to induce and enable the Government of the United States to enter upon that work immediately.

General Grant is at Savannah, on the Tennessee river, sixty miles from Florence, Alabama.

General Beauregard is in command at Corinth, Mississippi, about ten miles from Savannah, Tennessee, with 15,000 men from Pensacola, and Generals Cheatham and Bragg have divisions near by.

General Jackson, with the Confederate army under his command, is now reported to be at Mount Jackson, about thirty miles south of Strasburg.

General Halleck has assigned General Baell to the command of that portion of the Ohio included in the present department of the Mississippi, and General Denver to the command of the District of Kansas.

There is no later news from Island No. 10. On Wednesday all the guns of the upper rebel battery on the Tennessee shore were silenced.

There is no later news from Island No. 10. On Wednesday all the guns of the upper rebel battery on the Tennessee shore were silenced.

There is no later news from Island No. 10. On Wednesday all the guns of the upper rebel battery on the Tennessee shore were silenced.

There is no later news from Island No. 10. On Wednesday all the guns of the upper rebel battery on the Tennessee shore were silenced.

There is no later news from Island No. 10. On Wednesday all the guns of the upper rebel battery on the Tennessee shore were silenced.

The new gunboat Choocoo arrived from Boston last night.

LETTER FROM "OCCASIONAL"

WASHINGTON, March 20.—"What have I done that mine enemy should praise me?" was the question of one whom he had every reason to doubt and despise.

and also because they insist that our military leaders shall not treat these traitors as if they had simply offended against some civil statute or social law, "should keep in mind the fact that, wild and vicious as the Republicans may have been, or are, they have sought the life of this Government, assassinated its ablest defenders, and invoked against it the heinous and nameless atrocities of savage warfare."

and also because they insist that our military leaders shall not treat these traitors as if they had simply offended against some civil statute or social law, "should keep in mind the fact that, wild and vicious as the Republicans may have been, or are, they have sought the life of this Government, assassinated its ablest defenders, and invoked against it the heinous and nameless atrocities of savage warfare."

and also because they insist that our military leaders shall not treat these traitors as if they had simply offended against some civil statute or social law, "should keep in mind the fact that, wild and vicious as the Republicans may have been, or are, they have sought the life of this Government, assassinated its ablest defenders, and invoked against it the heinous and nameless atrocities of savage warfare."

and also because they insist that our military leaders shall not treat these traitors as if they had simply offended against some civil statute or social law, "should keep in mind the fact that, wild and vicious as the Republicans may have been, or are, they have sought the life of this Government, assassinated its ablest defenders, and invoked against it the heinous and nameless atrocities of savage warfare."

and also because they insist that our military leaders shall not treat these traitors as if they had simply offended against some civil statute or social law, "should keep in mind the fact that, wild and vicious as the Republicans may have been, or are, they have sought the life of this Government, assassinated its ablest defenders, and invoked against it the heinous and nameless atrocities of savage warfare."

and also because they insist that our military leaders shall not treat these traitors as if they had simply offended against some civil statute or social law, "should keep in mind the fact that, wild and vicious as the Republicans may have been, or are, they have sought the life of this Government, assassinated its ablest defenders, and invoked against it the heinous and nameless atrocities of savage warfare."

and also because they insist that our military leaders shall not treat these traitors as if they had simply offended against some civil statute or social law, "should keep in mind the fact that, wild and vicious as the Republicans may have been, or are, they have sought the life of this Government, assassinated its ablest defenders, and invoked against it the heinous and nameless atrocities of savage warfare."

and also because they insist that our military leaders shall not treat these traitors as if they had simply offended against some civil statute or social law, "should keep in mind the fact that, wild and vicious as the Republicans may have been, or are, they have sought the life of this Government, assassinated its ablest defenders, and invoked against it the heinous and nameless atrocities of savage warfare."

and also because they insist that our military leaders shall not treat these traitors as if they had simply offended against some civil statute or social law, "should keep in mind the fact that, wild and vicious as the Republicans may have been, or are, they have sought the life of this Government, assassinated its ablest defenders, and invoked against it the heinous and nameless atrocities of savage warfare."

GOVERNOR SPRAGUE ON SLAVERY.

No man, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, has won more honest fame in the course of the present war than the youthful Governor of Rhode Island.

No man, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, has won more honest fame in the course of the present war than the youthful Governor of Rhode Island. His promptness in forwarding troops when the rebellion broke out, his personal services in Washington, and his gallantry in the field of battle have alike contributed to his distinction.

No man, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, has won more honest fame in the course of the present war than the youthful Governor of Rhode Island. His promptness in forwarding troops when the rebellion broke out, his personal services in Washington, and his gallantry in the field of battle have alike contributed to his distinction.

No man, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, has won more honest fame in the course of the present war than the youthful Governor of Rhode Island. His promptness in forwarding troops when the rebellion broke out, his personal services in Washington, and his gallantry in the field of battle have alike contributed to his distinction.

No man, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, has won more honest fame in the course of the present war than the youthful Governor of Rhode Island. His promptness in forwarding troops when the rebellion broke out, his personal services in Washington, and his gallantry in the field of battle have alike contributed to his distinction.

No man, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, has won more honest fame in the course of the present war than the youthful Governor of Rhode Island. His promptness in forwarding troops when the rebellion broke out, his personal services in Washington, and his gallantry in the field of battle have alike contributed to his distinction.

No man, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, has won more honest fame in the course of the present war than the youthful Governor of Rhode Island. His promptness in forwarding troops when the rebellion broke out, his personal services in Washington, and his gallantry in the field of battle have alike contributed to his distinction.

No man, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, has won more honest fame in the course of the present war than the youthful Governor of Rhode Island. His promptness in forwarding troops when the rebellion broke out, his personal services in Washington, and his gallantry in the field of battle have alike contributed to his distinction.

No man, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, has won more honest fame in the course of the present war than the youthful Governor of Rhode Island. His promptness in forwarding troops when the rebellion broke out, his personal services in Washington, and his gallantry in the field of battle have alike contributed to his distinction.

No man, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, has won more honest fame in the course of the present war than the youthful Governor of Rhode Island. His promptness in forwarding troops when the rebellion broke out, his personal services in Washington, and his gallantry in the field of battle have alike contributed to his distinction.

SLIGHT DIFFERENCE.

The Hon. Charles J. Biddle was elected to Congress from Philadelphia on a sort of "Democratic" no-party platform, made with traps to catch good-natured friends of the Administration.

The Hon. Charles J. Biddle was elected to Congress from Philadelphia on a sort of "Democratic" no-party platform, made with traps to catch good-natured friends of the Administration.

The Hon. Charles J. Biddle was elected to Congress from Philadelphia on a sort of "Democratic" no-party platform, made with traps to catch good-natured friends of the Administration.

The Hon. Charles J. Biddle was elected to Congress from Philadelphia on a sort of "Democratic" no-party platform, made with traps to catch good-natured friends of the Administration.

The Hon. Charles J. Biddle was elected to Congress from Philadelphia on a sort of "Democratic" no-party platform, made with traps to catch good-natured friends of the Administration.

The Hon. Charles J. Biddle was elected to Congress from Philadelphia on a sort of "Democratic" no-party platform, made with traps to catch good-natured friends of the Administration.

The Hon. Charles J. Biddle was elected to Congress from Philadelphia on a sort of "Democratic" no-party platform, made with traps to catch good-natured friends of the Administration.

The Hon. Charles J. Biddle was elected to Congress from Philadelphia on a sort of "Democratic" no-party platform, made with traps to catch good-natured friends of the Administration.

The Hon. Charles J. Biddle was elected to Congress from Philadelphia on a sort of "Democratic" no-party platform, made with traps to catch good-natured friends of the Administration.

The Hon. Charles J. Biddle was elected to Congress from Philadelphia on a sort of "Democratic" no-party platform, made with traps to catch good-natured friends of the Administration.