

LANCELETS.

When a pair of red lips are returned to your own
 With no one to gossip about it,
 Do you pray for endurance to let them alone?
 Well maybe you do, but I doubt it.—

Street Arab: "An old man"

An honest man is the noblest pursuit of woman.

Parent in the door to young clerk who is caressing his daughter.

"Young man, you are not hired for that kind of work!"

"That's so, I'm doing it for nothing."

Which is better, to argue with a man, or to flatter him? Tell him which.

The greatest victories and the sweetest enjoyment are reached through suffering.

The question how to raise lambs has been raised. Ewes milk has been suggested.

It takes a girl about four hours longer to wash the front windows of a house than the back ones.

"I've been heron bad things about you," said one bird to another. "Let's stork about something else" was the response.

Old man: "If I had fifty cents, and gave it to you to get changed in order to get a penny, what would be left?"

Take care of your thoughts, for they lead to words and actions, just as brooks lead to rivers and rivers to oceans.

Patrick (dressing for a party)—"Bedad now and I shan't be able to git on these boots till I've worn them a toime or two."

The coat-tail flirtation is the latest. A wrinkled coat-tail, bearing dust toe marks, means: "I have spoken to your father."

This is the way a pupil of a primary school told the difference between the words "foot" and "feet": "One feet is a foot, and a whole lot of foofs is a feet."—Harper's Bazar.

Her lips were like the leaves, he said
 By Autumn's crimson tinted,
 Some people Autumn leaves preserve,
 By pressing them she hinted,
 The meaning of the gentle hint,
 The lover did discern,
 And so he clasped her round the neck,
 And glued his lips to her'n.

When you have no opportunity to speak a cheering word you can send a beam of sunshine into the heart of an absent sorrowing friend by writing a good warm hearted, helpful letter.
