At a meeting of the Athletic Association, February 19th, the following committees were elected to serve the coming season:—Base-ball Committee, G. R. Meek, H. C. McLean, C. E. Aull, H. R. Leyden and W. Martin; The Foot-ball Committee, C. A. Read, Kinsel, J. H. Yocum, C. C. Hildebrandt, and C. H. Hile.

Prof. Louis Reber gave a lecture upon Paris and the Paris Exposition on Tuesday evening, Feb. 12th, for the benefit of the Presbyterian Sunday-school. The lecture was highly instructive and interesting, and with the assistance of a scioptic arrangement the whole subject was beautifully illustrated.

Mr. S. T. Ford was secured by the Athletic Association for March 5th, to give his popular entertainment, consisting of recitations and songs. Mr. Ford gave an entertainment at the college about two years ago and all who heard him then, speak in the highest terms of his ability. His entertainment this time was even better than his former one.

Hildebrandt and Shylock went on horseback to see their girls the other evening. Hildebrandt, who can't tell a horse from a cow, had some trouble in getting under way. This is the way he described the affair afterward: "As soon as I got on its back he—the animal was a mare—commenced to back the wrong way, so I just turned it around and rode on with its tail going first."

In order to insure quietness and freedom the annoyances of petty boisterousness in the hall the commandant has appointed orderlies, who are officers of the batallion, to take charge of each floor. The orderlies will be responsible for all the noises made on their floors and they are supposed to report any one caught making the same.

It was a great pity that when the appropriations for the different buildings were being made that there was nothing appropriated for a warehouse or storeroom. If this would have been thought of we might have been spared the remark by a visitor who, after being shown through the building, and having admired the many improvements, asked, when he came to the first floor, "how do the students get upstairs when the warehouse is full?"

On Friday evening, February 7th, the Fow Epsilon Tset Society held its annual feed. It should have come off on "Ground Hog" day, which is the one they celebrate, but as that day came on Sunday this year they had to delay the feed for some time. There were a number of guests present, among whom were Professors Heston, Pond and Reber, and a friend of Prof. Pond's, Mr. Payne, of Montreal, Canada. Everybody present enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. The impromptu toasts, speeches and the songs were most interesting features. All who were fortunate enough to be present at more than one of these gatherings are unanimous in pronouncing them the most enjoyable and characteristic occurrences in our college life.

The "Engineering Society," which was first organized almost three years ago and has since that time existed by name only, has during this college year been reorganized and now assumes a different position than hitherto. It now promises to be such a society as has long been desired by the engineering body of the students. The exercises consist of the reading and discussing of papers of engineering interest, written by the students and Alumni of the college. One of the principal features will be the publication of a quarterly journal containing such papers as may be selected by a board of editors. Only Junior and Senior engineering students are eligible to active membership, and it is desired that all these will avail themselves of membership at the first opportunity.
