

Barber Gilkey sits in his dingy old shop,
 Patiently waiting his next victim to crop;
 He chuckles and inwardly smiles
 As he remembers the last man he victimized.
 A world wide reputation has this barber got,
 For the hair he cuts and the whiskers he can block;
 His tonie is strong and possesses great strength,
 And will make one's beard grow to great length.
 He places his victim in the chair,
 And roughly seizes him by the hair;
 He works the clippers with a dexterous hand,
 Pulling out the hairs from every gland.
 His razors are made of the best of steel,
 They are sharp and keen, you can tell by the feel;
 His shampoos are equal to a Turkish bath,
 And the victim leaves filled full of wrath.

The equipment of the Department of Electrical Engineering has been increased by the addition of a four-light, two thousand candle power arc dynamo, and a seventy-five light incandescent machine. They are both furnished by the Brush Electric Co. of Cleveland, Ohio. The building is soon to be wired and lighted throughout by the new dynamos. A twenty-five H. P. Ball engine has been procured to furnish the needed power.

The condition of the foot ball grounds has caused some considerable comment among the students during the past few weeks. At their best the grounds are poor, being considerably cut up by wagon tracks. But to make them worse, the recent hard rains have washed the tracks so that at one part there is a very bad place. This is at the west end where a deep gutter has been made. It is filled with sharp, jagged rocks, which would seriously injure any one who might be unfortunate enough to fall on them. The persons having the grounds in charge know of their condition and should see that they are repaired before a serious accident occurs.

It is with regret that the FREE LANCE announces the withdrawal from college of Profs. Reeves and Heston. Both have for a long time been connected with the institution, first as students, and then as professors. Both were highly esteemed and respected by all the students, and each exercised a powerful influence over the pupils under his charge. Prof. Reeves will enter the insurance business in Trenton, N. J., and Prof. Heston has accepted the position of State Superintendent of the Public Schools at Seattle, Wash. The FREE LANCE, though sorry to lose them from the college, wishes them all the success possible in their new undertakings.
