

TEMPORA MUTANTUR.

Long years ago in Moses' time,
When people were troubled with their woes,
They tore their hair and in their grief
They savagely rent their clothes.

And so it is in college now
When students are troubled with their woes
They tear no hair, but in their grief
They savagely rent their clothes.

—Williams Weekly

Ah, hark! I hear the postman's ring,
My heart beats hard and fast!
Did he a dainty missive bring?
Ah yes, 'tis here at last!
This note addressed in woman's hand
Seems very dear to me.

With trembling hand I haste to tear
The envelope open wide,
And a few—spaces I can't forbear
For there's but a bill inside!
Yet all the same this note's demand
Seems very dear to me,

THE SERF'S SECRET.

I know a secret, such a one
The hawthorn blossoms spider spun,
The dew drop daisies in the grass
Laugh up to greet me as I pass
To meet the upland sun.

It is that I would fainer be
The little page on bended knee'
Who stoops to gather up her train
Beneath the porch lamp's ruby rain,
Than hold a realm in fee.

It is that in her scornful eye
Too hid for courtly sneer to spy,
I saw, one day, a look which said
That I, and only I, might shed
Love light across her sky.

I know a secret, such a one,
The hawthorn blossoms, spider spun,
The dew damp daisies in the grass
Laugh up to greet me as I pass
To meet the upland sun,

IN JUSTICE.

Just as often now as when
The living Hamlet trod the stage,
The realm of thought is free to men,
And youth may ponder thoughts as sage.
And though one wear an evening dress
In place of Hamlets gaudy show,
His head may measure none the less,
And may be just as full of woo.
Yet if I sat the live long day
And looked as wise as e'er did he,
I wager none would think to say
That grand was my soliloquy.
