—On Saturday evening, February 17th, the second entertainment of the FREE LANCE course was given in the College chapel. Mr. Edward P. Elliot, the impersonator, gave us one of his inimitable plays, "Dollars and Sense." Mr. Elliot is an old favorite here, having appeared last year in "Hazel Kirk," when he completely endeared himself to State College audiences by his exquisite conception of the various rolls in which he appeared. "Dollars and Sense," is a new play and still somewhat in the rough, but many think it even better than Hazel Kirk. His short sketches are especially fine, and it will be with pleasure that we anticipate his return next year.

—The fourth annual winter meeting of the Athletic Association, came off in the Armory, Friday evening, February 16th. Both financially and in performances it was a success.
