

—The University Inn has had a change in management, A. L. Westcott, the former proprietor, having been succeeded by Mrs. G. L. Clark, of Pittsburg.

—The Freshmen rushed prepdom Friday night, the 28th of September, the fracas taking place on the entrance steps to the preparatory department. After twenty minutes of fighting, but before victory had perched on the banner of either side, the troops appeared on the scene and hostilities were discontinued.

—On the afternoon of Wednesday the 10th of October, the battalion went to Bellefonte, in order to take part in the funeral procession of Ex-Gov. Curtin. Two thousand men were in line, including many different military organizations. State had the honor of bringing up the rear, and the cadets' marching was the equal, if not superior—to any along the whole line.

On August 17th a dance was given at Ridley Park, Pa., by the college men of Delaware and Chester counties. Its success was due mainly to the efforts of A. D. McDade '93, U. of Pa. and J. F. Shields '92, and A. F. Damon '94, of Penna. State. P. S. C. was represented by G. S. Demming '90, F. N. Weidner '91, J. F. Shields '92, A. F. Damon '94, C. E. Kremer '94, R. F. Kelker Jr. '96 and L. L. Johnson, Ex-'96. During the intermission the State boys gave their college yell with a vigor that quite surprised the other collegians present.

—The latest addition to the Engineering building is the new triple expansion Corliss engine, built by A. P. Allis & Co., of Milwaukee, Wis. This is the third engine of this type built by the company, the other two being at Cornell University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. It is capable of three hundred horse power but will usually be run at only one hundred and seventy-five. W. H. Tucker of the Allis company is superintending the erection which will be completed some time in November.

—In the several departments we notice the following new appointments:

J. H. Tudor, C. E., M. S., instructor in Mathematics; Hervey E. Dunkle, B. S., instructor in Mechanical Drawing; John A. Hunter Jr., B. S., instructor in Mechanical Engineering; Henry Lardner, B. S., instructor in Electrical Engineering; Paul B. Breneman, B. S., assistant in Civil Engineering; William H. Rebhun, B. S., assistant in Chemical Laboratory; Louis W. Matern, B. S., assistant in English; William O. Farnsworth, assistant in French and German; George Tucker Sellew, A. M., instructor in the Preparatory Department, English and Latin; Joseph M. Wolf, M. A., instructor in the Preparatory Department, Mathematics.

—The following foot-ball schedule has been arranged by Manager Spence:

Sept. 29. Washington and Jefferson at State College.—Postponed.

Oct. 10. Gettysburg at State College.—o—6o

Oct. 20. Lafayette at State College.

Oct. 26. Washington and Jefferson at Washington, Pa.

Nov. 2. Georgetown Athletic club at Washington, D. C.

Nov. 3. Richmond, at Richmond Va.

Nov. 5. University of Virginia, at Charlottesville, Va.

Nov. 17. Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster.

Nov. 29. Pittsburg Athletic club at Pittsburg.

This would appear to be an excellent schedule did we not know that several of the dates have been cancelled already by the opposing team. It is strange that, while State goes around seeking whom she may devour and willing to play any worthy opponent who will keep a date with her, very few of the colleges care to do so. Such is the penalty of greatness, but we can afford to rest a little while upon our laurels, acknowledging, as we do so, only four superiors on the foot-ball field, the four great universities.
