

—The morning after election Dr. Atherton announced in chapel that General Hastings said he would consider it an honor to have the State College cadets as a special escort at his inauguration in Harrisburg, Jan. 14th. The announcement was received by the students with applause. Hardly a year passes that the battalion does not take part in some military event and the drilling of the cadets is the subject of frequent favorable comment. Upon this occasion there is no reason why it should not surpass all former times, as the new cadets have had more drill this fall than is usually given.

—The annual report of the college is expected to be out in January. The cuts in the last report, taken from photographs of the exterior and interior of the buildings, and of the college grounds, were satisfactory as far as they went, that it was decided to make the next issue as complete as possible in this line, far ahead of its predecessor in every point. As a consequence, photographer Bretz, of Pottsville, has been here for two weeks taking photographs which will give outsiders as good an idea of the college as can be obtained on paper. The report will contain one hundred and fifty illustrations, which will make it a book of interest as well as information.

---

PERSONALS.

Ex-'97. F. T. Beers, who left college last Fall term, has returned and entered the class of '98.

'97. J. A. Stephens left college recently to accept a lucrative position as instructor in the Pennsylvania Reform school in Washington county.

Ex-'97. Misses Grace, Mabel and Minnie Kuhn attended the Senior Assembly of Nov. 30. They were the guests of the Misses Clark at the University Inn.

Ex-'96. J. L. Given visited State during the last month. He is taking a course in journalism at Cornell University.

'96. G. D. Holter, professor of chemistry in the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College, and chemist in the Oklahoma Experimental Station at Stillwater, was married on Nov. 7th, to Miss Mabel C. Hodges, in St. Andrews church, Stillwater, Oklahoma.

Ex-'95. H. S. Taylor, attorney at law in the office of Orvis, Bower & Orvis, and tax collector of Bellefonte, was married during the last month to a Miss Bauer of the same town.

'94. Roger Bowman is with his brother Fremons in the produce business, Philadelphia.

'94. A. D. Belt, formerly with the Wellsville Whip Co., is now with the Harrisburg Foundry and Machine Works.

'94. W. C. Thompson has been appointed as secretary and treasurer of the Williams Valley Light, Heat and Power Co.

'94. E. B. Kirk, formerly with the General Electric Co. at Schenectady, N. Y., is now at Lynn, Mass. in the employ of the same company.

'93. Frank Orbin is at the Johns Hopkins University taking graduate work in electricity.

'93. C. J. Girvin, on his way to a hunting-trip in the Seven Mountains, recently paid the College a visit.

'92. N. McA. Loyd is still a journalist with the New York Sun and not with the New York Journal as stated in a former issue.

'92. Miss E. K. Meek and Ex-'94. Miss Myra Holliday were both present at the Thanksgiving hop on Friday evening, November 30th.

'91. T. A. Gilkey, C. E. is now situated at Youngstown, Ohio.

'91. C. M. Green (E. E. '93) is with the Brush Electric Co., Cleveland, Ohio. At present he is engaged in the installation of an electric railway plant in Norfolk, Va. When this is completed, he will go to the shops of the Brush Co., to test some large arc-generators which this company is introducing.