

—The Electrical Engineering society discusses topics of lively interest in their rooms once a week. The membership is quite large and the benefits derived from such a society are inestimable.

—The Glee and Banjo Clubs will give concerts at Bellefonte, Williamsport and Towanda before the Easter vacation. By taking in these places before the two weeks trip it will enable them to cover more ground at that time.

—This winter has been unusually severe at the College, the thermometer registering 10° below zero several mornings. On Jan. 14th there was fourteen inches of snow on the ground and since New Years it has been covered with deep snow.

—The Senior and Junior mechanicals, together with Messrs. Towle and Dunkle met together on Feb. 1 and organized a Mechanical Engineering society which will meet every Thursday. The Seniors and Juniors are active, while the Sophomores and Freshmen are associate members.

—On Monday Jan. 28 on account of the snow storm on Sunday and the blizzard succeeding it, no train arrived at the college until noon. The cuts were completely filled with snow in many places, and it was with difficulty that the track was shovelled clear, as the snow was packed very hard.

—Students and alumni will do well to keep this copy of the LANCE as it contains the constitution of the Athletic Association to which it is often necessary to make reference. In order to reach all, the association has printed five hundred copies of the constitution which will be sold at cost to those wishing copies.

—In the February number of the Forum appears an article which might well be read both by students and professors. It is "Student Honor and College Examinations," by W. Le Conte Stevens, and is prepared from the testimony of professors of the leading colleges of the country showing all sides of this perplexing question.

—The "Lotus Glee Club," of Boston, gave a very enjoyable concert in the chapel on Feb. 14, under the auspices of the LANCE.

—The Athletic Association has presented to each member of the football team a souvenir pin as a reminder of last season's successful work. They are very neat and tasteful.
