

ciation of the College for their kindly interest, they were asked to be the guests of the faculty at the first general gathering which has taken place since they favored us by satisfying a long felt need.

The news of the good showing which our foot-ball team made against Princeton reached here about seven o'clock Wednesday evening, October 26. It put the students in the best of spirits and after building a large bon-fire they assembled in the Armory for a dance, the band furnishing the music for the occasion.

Shoffstall, '00, who had a collar bone fractured in the game with Pennsylvania on Oct. 1, has again returned to college.

Dr. Adams, president of the University of Wisconsin, visited the College during the early part of October. He delivered an interesting address to the students on Tuesday morning, Oct. 11, in which he expressed himself as much pleased with the College and surroundings.

Dr. F. J. Pond recently declined to consider the offer of a position on the teaching force of Cornell University.

H. Phythyon, who enrolled here as an irregular mining student, has gone to Indiana State Normal to act as an Athletic Director.

The College was most fortunate in being able to secure Rev. Gerald Stanley Lee to conduct the chapel services on Oct. 16th and 23d. On Friday evening, Oct. 21st, he delivered a lecture on Rudyard Kipling, the proceeds going to the public library of the borough.

B. L. Moore was recently elected manager of the Sophomore foot-ball eleven, and H. F. McKnight manager of the Freshman team.

Dr. Benedict spent a considerable portion of last month in attending Teachers' Institutes held in the neighboring counties.

The Thespians, the dramatic association of the College, have begun work on the play "The School for Scandal" by Richard Sheridan, the production for this year. The cast of characters so far as has been arranged is:—

Sir Peter Teazle,	D. E. Wentzel, '00.
Sir Oliver Surface,	J. C. Reed, '99.
Jos. Surface,	A. N. Diehl, '98.
Chas. Surface,	John Neubert, '99.