

Navy's one yard line. At the next attempt Scholl took the ball over the Navy's goal line for a touchdown. Smith kicked an easy goal. Score 11 to 6 in favor of State.

The Navy then kicked off to State, and Smith returned the kick. The Navy made the most desperate attempts to score, resorting chiefly to fierce onslaughts on the tackles. After gaining thirty yards the Cadets were held for downs. With forty-five seconds to play, Captain Nicholls attempted a fake kick. The ball was passed from center to fullback and the fullback passed it to the quarterback, who had run around behind the fullback to receive the ball. The quarterback started to run with it, but State was on the alert, and as the cry "Look out for a trick play" went around, Smith dove through the line and knocked the quarterback off his feet. As the quarterback was struggling to regain his feet, Biesecker fell on the quarterback's neck and held him fast. The whistle blew, and State had won the game. Score, 11 to 6. Capt. Hewitt, of State, by reason of having his knee thrown out of joint but a few days previous, was unable to get into the game. Ruble took his place at quarterback and played a star game. Scholl acted as captain, and played as only Scholl can,—the highest praise that can be given him. The line-up follows:
