

A plan will be selected shortly and work will commence in the Spring.—Bellefonte Daily News.

“The choice of books, like that of friends, is a serious study. We are as responsible for what we read as for what we do.”

Among the books on the following list are some of the notable publications of the year:

“The Memoirs of Paul Kruger,” and the story of “The Boer War,” told by one of its most heroic leaders, Gen. De Wet, are full of interest.

“The Diamond Mines of South Africa,” by F. H. Williams, is sumptuous in binding and illustration, and gives a most entertaining history of the mines, and a description of the manner in which they are worked. It is in the Department of Mining Engineering.

The list also includes Angelo Heilprin’s vivid account of the eruptions of Mount Pelée, and two valuable biographies, Bernard Alderson’s “Andrew Carnegie,” and Scudder’s Life of Lowell.

H. M. B.

Alderson, Barnard.—Andrew Carnegie. 1902.

Alesop, G.—A Character of the Province of Maryland (reprint). 1902.

Bowker, R. W.—State publication.

De Wet, C. R.—Three Years’ War. 1902.

Tretwell, J.—The Christian Hungarian Romance. 1901.

Hamilton, J. H.—Savings and Savings Institutions. 1902.

Heilprin, Angelo.—Mount Pelee. 1803.

Howard, J. Q.—History of the Louisiana Purchase. 1902.

Kruger, Paul.—Memoirs of Kruger Told by Himself. 1902.

Lincoln, C. H.—The Revolutionary Movement in Penna. 1901.

Loudon, J. C.—Arboretum et Fruticetum Britannicum. 8 vols. 1844.

McCook, H. C.—Tenants of an Old Farm (rev. ed.). 1902.

Mann, C. R.—Manual of Advanced Optics. 1902.