

Conigan was remembered. "Coley, the white mule," and a half score of State's local celebrities, past and present were toasted. It was near midnight when the men separated, after frequent and long repetitions of the college yell.

Those present were: E. B. Greenawalt, '79; C. C. Chesney, '85; J. Gilbert White, '82; W. F. White, '87; J. M. Pray, '01; J. B. White, '94; A. M. Pearce, '00; W. C. Sharp, '97; Nelson Lloyd, '92; L. A. Reed, '95; Frank A. Griffin, '91; H. H. Robbins, '01; C. C. Mattern, '00; John H. Yocum, '91; Edward W. Bush, '92; C. H. Bassler, '01; Harvey B. McLean, '90; Fred Dorlington, '86; William P. Brew, '90; H. R. Leyden, '90; H. J. York, '00; J. H. Sieffried, '00; R. E. Tyson, '97; W. H. Finley, '99, and Edward P. Butts, '93.

All old State men who are within reach of New York and wish to become affiliated with the alumni there will send their names to Nelson Lloyd, 17 West 18th Street, New York.

—R. W. Salisbury, '01, paid a short visit to old friends at the college and vicinity during exam. week.

—W. K. Gibboney, '95, who is assistant superintendent of the Niagara Falls Power Company, has recently figured in a rather peculiar episode. On January 29th the power-house was struck by lightning, resulting in a derangement of much the machinery, as well as a complete entanglement of all the wires running through the tunnel into the transforming room.

—T. A. Gilkey, '91, formerly with the American Bridge Company, at Pittsburg, is now employed by the Pennsylvania Engineering Works, at New Castle.

—J. P. Ritenour, '01, is pursuing a course in medicine at U. of P.

—W. P. B. Lockwood, '99, who until recently was with the Thatcher Manufacturing Company, of Potsdam, N. Y., has accepted a position at the college as teacher of Bacteriology and allied sciences.

—G. R. Wieland, '93, Fellow in Paleontology at Yale Uni-