

called the meeting to order, spoke words of greeting to the old men and welcome to the new. After the tables had been cleared the following toasts were responded: "The College," Jno. S. Weller, '98, lawyer of the Pittsburg Courts; "The Athletic Association," J. P. Jackson, '89, Professor of Electrical Engineering the Pennsylvania State College; "The Engineer," Geo. C. Clarke; "State in Business," James E. Quigley, '94, with the Armstrong Cork Co.; "The Alumni Association," William L. Affelder, '99, Superintendent of the Mosgrove Coal Works, and "The Medicine Man," by Dr. Henry T. Price, '96.

This organization of the Pennsylvania State College Alumni is composed of the following officers, together with some seventy State men in the vicinity of Pittsburg: Lawyer, Walton H. Mitchell, '90, President; Thomas A. Gilkey, '91, civil engineer with the American Bridge Co., Vice-President; Rob't. M. McKinley, '97, mechanical engineer with the American Bridge Co., Secretary and Treasurer; John S. Weller, '89; Chas. E. Aull, '92, Treasurer of the Iron City Lumber Co.; David S. Patterson, Jr., '95, city editor Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph, and Samuel T. Herr, '95, with Heyl and Patterson, compose the executive committee.

---

COLLEGE ORBIT.

O. C. HAYS.

—Mr. E. H. Lehman, of Colorado, Class of '02 of Yale, has been granted the first Cecil Rhodes scholarship. This scholarship entitles the holder to any course at Oxford.

—Cornell has been undergoing a scourge of typhoid fever. Twenty students have died and many of the students have gone home. The germs of the disease have been traced to the water supply. The State Board of Health is aiding the school authorities in their efforts to stamp out the disease.