

In Selecting a Profession

Young men should consider the advantages offered by Life Assurance. There is no other profession that pays so well from the very start—none that offers so many inducements to energetic, capable young men. A rare opportunity is offered to young men to become representatives of the strongest Life Assurance company in the world. A school has been established for their benefit where they can receive a thorough training free of cost in one of the best paying and most honorable professions in the world today. Good positions are immediately given those who prove competent. Many energetic young men make money during college days by representing the Equitable Life.
