"JUNIOR WEEK" AT PENN.

The following was taken from the Philadelphia Press of Sunday, Oct. 16th. State College might do worse than try something on the same order, although necessarily more limited scale.

Junior week will be inaugurated at the University of Pennsylvania during Thanksgiving week.

Heretofore the social gatherings at the University have been scattered throughout the year, and it has been difficult for the out-of-town men to bring their friends here. In order to alleviate this difficulty the Students' Discipline Committee has planned a series of entertainments which will last for nearly a week during the Thanksgiving holidays.

During this "Junior Week," as the affair will be termed, the University buildings and clubs will be open for the visitors and a program will be announced.

At present the following entertainments are being planned: Thursday, Nov. 24th, afternoon, football game at Franklin Field, Cornell vs. Pennsylvania; evening, combined musical clubs' concert.
Houston Hall, Friday, Nov. 25th, afternoon, fraternity teas; evening, Junior ball in the new gymnasium.
Saturday, Nov. 26th, afternoon,
football game at Franklin Field, West Point vs. Annapolis; evening, theatre parties. Sunday, Nov. 27th, morning, services at Houston Hall and visit to University buildings.

During this week the fraternity houses, some twenty in number, will give house parties.

MATHEMATICAL CLUB.

The Mathematical club, consisting of members of the faculty, met Monday evening, Oct. 10th, for election of officers and general arrangement of work for the year.
Prof. Tudor was elected president and Dr. Stecker secretary. The time of meeting is to be as last year —on alternate Tuesday evenings at 7:30 p. m. A committee, consisting of Prof. Willard, Prof. Garver and Dr. Stecker was appointed to consider and report on an appropriate line of work for the coming year.
