Annapolis, 20, State, 9.

State suffered defeat at the hands of the Navy last Saturday breaking the list of victories of the past three years. The result came as a surprise to the cadets, who were sure that State was as strong as Swarthmore. It was probably as great an eye-opener to the Blue and White.

To cry that luck figured in the game seems a poor excuse but bad fortune was undoubtedly State's lot. Forkum was forced to leave the field in the first five minutes of play. In Moscrip's try for a goal from a touchdown the center of the ball hit just a little below the bar and of course the try failed. On the other hand when the Navy tried the last goal the ball hit one of the posts fairly but fell over the bar. When a ball was fumbled by either side it always seemed to fall directly into the arms of a navy player. Fumbles were made when entirely uncalled for and at decidedly inopportune times. These are some of the ways in which fate seemed to have a finger in the game.

The team arrived in Baltimore on Friday afternoon and stayed at the Eutaw until Saturday morning. It seemed confident of winning the game. The afternoon was cloudy but did not deter the large crowd that attended the contest.

At 2.30 the teams appeared on the field. They were about equal in weight. After a short practice Forkum kicked off. The ball was run back only a short distance and the cadets were not able to make a first down. They kicked and State had the ball near the center. From this point they carried it by successive plunges to within five yards of the line. Here continued line smashing failed to gain and State was held for downs. The Navy kicked at once and the touchdown was lost. The ball now moved back and forth in the center of the field. After a time Annapolis had it directly in front of the goal and Martin succeeded in a drop kick. Shortly after the next kick-off Forkum who had been laid out several times was urged to retire from the game. This was due largely to the closing of his throat from the case of laryngitis which he had at the time. McGee took his place and played an excellent game, but the team did not seem to have the same confidence in him as they did in Forkum. Consequently the Navy was soon in position for a drop kick at the other goal. This was successfully tried and the half ended with score: Navy 8; State 0.

In the second half the cadets scored a touchdown by some quick play. It looks very blue for State and was extremely doubtful if she would score at all. But on the next kick-off things brightened. The team played good ball and took the pigskin to such a place that Moscrip could easily make a field goal. The spirit of winning lasted and with fifteen minutes of the half gone Moorhead assisted by splendid interference by Saunders got around left end for a forty yard run and a touchdown. With five minutes to play State would have won by another touchdown. Unfortunate fumbling and penalties, however, soon placed the ball so close to State's goal that Annapolis gathered spirit and dashed across the line. This made the score Navy 20, State 9.

Grady played a star game for the Navy. Moorhead made several very pretty tackles. State's ends were always quick in getting down the field on punts. The Blue and White was penalized about 60 yards during the game. The line was weak without Forkum to back it up. The line up:

| STATE | POSITION | NAVY |
| Barr | left end | Whiting |

Schwab Coming.

President Atherton announced in Chapel on Tuesday that Mr. Schwab would accompany Mr. Carnegie to the College for the dedication of the new library week after next. The news was received with applause.

'06 Banquet.

According to the custom of the Junior class, the members of 1906 will banquet next Friday evening at Williamsport. Heckathorne is chairman and Rhoades will act as toastmaster.

Dancing

A petition is being circulated among the students to endeavor to obtain the Armory for dancing purposes one night each week. A dancing school will probably be formed.
