The Constitution of the Athletic Association.

The first installment of the constitution appeared in last week's issue.
A part will be printed each week as the revising committee prepares it, in accordance with the action at a previous meeting.

ARTICLE IV.

Section 1. It shall be the duty of the President to preside at all meetings; to expound the Constitution and By-Laws, to enforce a due observance thereof, to decide upon all questions of order, to call meetings, to appoint officers and committees not otherwise provided for, to fill temporary vacancies, and to issue orders on the Treasurer for bills not belonging to either of the three departments.

Section 2. In the absence of the President, the Vice-President shall perform all the duties of that officer.

Section 3. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep, in books provided for the purpose, full and complete minutes of the proceedings of the Association, and a complete and correct list of the various games and sports of the Association together with dates and names of players. His list of active members, other than those given in the catalogue, shall be kept. He shall carry on all correspondence not within province of the other departments.

Section 4. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer, who shall be a resident member of the Alumni or of the Instruction force, to receive all dues, to receive donations, and from the managers, the net receipts of all Athletic events; to keep a full and correct account of all money received and paid out, under four separate heads: Association account, Foot Ball account, Base Ball account and General Athletic account. Under the head of the Association account shall be entered all items not belonging to any of the other three ac-
