

TECHNICAL REVIEW.

The Cuban Government has granted the Berlin Wireless Telegraph Company permission to establish two stations on the island.

A sixty inch telescope, the largest of its kind in actual use, has been installed in the astronomical observatory at Harvard University. The mechanism will be operated entirely by electricity.

The general Electric Company has established wireless telegraph communications between Schenectad and Lynn. It was found that messages intended for the Marconi station at Cape Cod could be received at Schenectady.

Orders have been filed with the Westinghouse Company to equip a power house for the electrical operation of gold dredging boats in Alaska. Dawson City will be the location of the power house and arrangements will be made by which the boats, when in position for dredging, can be electrically connected to feed wire extending along the river. An extensive use will be made of electrical machinery. The Parsons steam turbine will act as prime mover.

COLLEGE ORBIT.

Cornell will soon have a new athletic field.

The libraries at Yale contain 390,000 volumes.

A new medical college has lately been opened at Vermont University.

Each member of the Senior class at Princeton Seminary gives a book to the Mission Library.

Tipton, of West Point, recently threw a couple Japanese jiu jitsu experts in a wrestling match.

Michigan will lose only two men from the victorious team which Coach Yost turned out this year.

The faculty of the University of Michigan has denied Ralph Rose, the athlete, an honorable dismissal.

The fiftieth annual catalogue of Tufts College, lately issued, shows an enrollment of over 1,000 students.

William Jennings Bryan will deliver the commencement address before the University of Nebraska next June.

By order of the faculty of the University of Texas, the Greek letter fraternities have been forbidden to pledge students before Nov. 1, of each year.

Mr. Carnegie has donated $50,000 to Lebanon Valley College to aid them replace their dormitory and main building which were destroyed by fire during Christmas vacation.

The Chicago University students have protested against the presence of the coeds in the library of the law department asserting that their presence there interferes with serious work.

Coach Stagg, of Chicago University is discouraging the use of spiked shoes. He believes the men can run just as well with plain shoes when they get used to them.

A discussion has taken place in the Hartford Board of Trade as to the advisability of establishing a trade school in connection with Trinity College.

According to statistics, New York

University incurs an average annual expense of $100 per man for instruction, Columbia and Barnard about $300, Harvard about $300 and Yale over $200.

The famous Harvard class of 1880 of which President Roosevelt is a member, will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary next June by making the college a gift without restrictions of a hundred thousand dollars in cash.

Library Notes.

Hours—7-55 A. M. to 10 P. M.

There still seems to be some question as to the classes of books, and the relations of readers thereto, perhaps a plain re-statement will be helpful. Copies of the Regulations may be obtained at the Library.

The Library is primarily a reference library. The greatest good to the greatest number is thus assured, the entire resources of the Library being directly available at all times to any reader or student. Limited circulation privileges are, however, provided.

All books in the Library belong to one of three classes, designated (R), (C), and (R C) respectively.

The (R) class are strictly for reference purposes, and do not circulate.

Class (C) embraces about 1500 works of Fiction, Poetry, Travel, Essays, etc.,—these circulate for one week and are subject to one renewal.

The (R C) class includes about 18000 volumes, the main part of the collection. Books of this class may be taken out from 5 P. M. of one day until 9 A. M. of the following day, except that books drawn Saturday must be returned on Monday by 9 A. M.

These three classes of books (R), (C) and (R C) are plainly marked upon the book plate on inner surface of front binding, and upon volume label on lower edge of book. An author list of (C) books may be consulted on Delivery Desk in Reading Room.