Military drill as conducted at the University of Nebraska causes more unpleasantness than a little bit. It seems that the soldiers have a right to the athletic field after five o'clock in the afternoon. Not long ago the U. ball team was playing a game with another college. At five o'clock the score between the teams was a tie, in the last half of the ninth inning with two men out. When the boys did not leave the diamond at the commandant's request, he charged bayonets on the players and compelled them to leave the field.—Ex.

According to a time honored custom on the first Monday in March, Princeton Seniors threw aside their dignity and appeared on the campus rolling hoops and spinning tops. The Juniors reserved the exclusive right to play marbles, and owing to the unfavorable condition of the ground, every available place was hotly contested. The Freshmen were not allowed to watch the sport.—Ex.
