EDITORIAL.

But two days remain before the much talked of game. As State and the Indians have not met in football for years there is much speculation as to what will be the outcome. Reports come from Carlisle that the Indians have a wonderfully strong aggregation this year. That, however, will not deter our boys from making one of the hardest fights they ever did. The band will be there in all its glory and nothing yet remains except for those fellows who haven't decided to go along, to do so at once. Boys, it will be a lonely day in State College next Saturday. Do you want to have an attack of the "blues?" If not don't stay in State College next Saturday but take your pennant off the wall and come along. We expect to have over four hundred students Harrisburg. How the spirit must rise in our gridiron stars to have the fellows there at the side lines, to see the waving ocean of white and blue and to hear the lusty yells go up from half a hundred loyal backers! This is "Old Home Week" at Harrisburg and thousands of people have journeyed far to see the Capital in gala attire. The game forms a very fitting "wind up" to the festivities. Fellows, you can't be students all your lives. In many years from now you will look back and think of the great time you had at this game or, if you had not attended, you will feel like kicking yourself.

Y. M. C. A. Concerts.

The annual entertainment course given by the Y. M. C. A. has been arranged for as follows:

October 30, The Lotus Glee Club.

December 8, Durno, the Magician.

February 2, Mr. E. Livingston Barbour.

February 23, The Siegel-Meyer-Reed Company.

March 16, Mr. George R. Wendling.

It will be seen at a glance that this course is well worth patronizing. The Lotus Glee Club is one of the best known companies in New York and New England, and its reputation is enough to guarantee to the lover of music an evening of keen enjoyment.

Durno comes here with a record of delighted audiences, and will give an entertainment that will drive away the most persistent attack of blues. Besides doing all the famous "stunts" of Keller and other masters of magic, Durno performs many strange and laughable feats of ventriloquism.

The presence of Siegel, the greatest living mandolin player, should draw out a large crowd, as it will be an opportunity not to be missed. While in London and on the Continent, Siegel won praise such as is seldom given to an American musician. He will be ably supported by Meyer, the pianist and Miss Reed, the impersonator.

Mr. Barbour is already famous as a monologist, having appeared before scores of audiences from Boston to Chicago. He will give "David Harum," and it is safe to say that there will not be a person in his audience but will be delighted by Mr. Barbour's reading of this famous book. Dozens of entertainment course managers pronounce

Mr. Barbour as their best attraction and are loud in their praises of his work.

Mr. Wendling is probably too well-known a figure on the platform to need of much comment. It is probable that no greater platform orator is living and a rare treat is in store for those wise enough to plan to hear him.

Further particulars, circulars etc. may be procured from the General Secretary, Room 273, Main Building.

Mrs. Adams' Death.

Lee Adams, '06, is mourning the loss of his mother who died here last Monday evening. Adams has the sympathy of every member of his class and other of his acquaintances in the college. The Senior Class met Tuesday morning and had a committee appointed to draw up appropriate resolutions.

State College, Pa., Oct. 3, '05.

RESOLVE, That by the death of his mother he has suffered an irreparable loss

Resolved That the class of 1906 deeply sympathize with him in this bereavement

Mass Meeting.

The second of the series of mass meetings previous to the Indian game was held in the Old Chapel last Friday evening. Songs and yells for the Indian game were practiced. Manager Bair exhibited a plan of the Harrisburg athletic field and a position in the bleachers was decided upon. Other matters of a business nature were brought up but no satisfactory conclusions were reached. The question of another coach was also brought up and it was decided to endeavor to close a contract with Fennell, who so well handled last years squad.
