comfort and the use of the students, and we ask the student body if it believes that such "misappropriations" as the above should be tolerated. Now the point of all these words is this: it hardly seems possible that a large table could have been taken away without the theft being seen. It is also probably true that the theft was regarded as a good joke by those who may have witnessed it. How about it?

The Association asks the co-operation of the fellows in keeping Room 273 comfortable and pleasant. If the students will do their best to prevent such mean acts of thieving as have been mentioned, they will be sure of a pleasant place to spend off hours.
