

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

In the general complaint now being made about college concerning the "misappropriation" of property, the Y. M. C. A. is compelled to take a share. Various things have been taken from Room 273 and but little has been said, but just last week the two large tables used for games and reading matter have disappeared. In the last Collegian appeared an article concerning the "Tacks Regulation" in which article it was stated that a student should have a right to the free use of his own room. We believe that the Y. M. C. A. should not be denied the same privileges in its rooms that the students exercise in their rooms. As it is the Association dares not place in room 273 any pennant or other decoration save articles of such a character which no student would care to take. The association fits out this room for the
