

"All Pennsylvania Eleven."

Continued from page 1.

The writer has seen fourteen of these teams perform this season:— U. of P., Carlisle Indian, Lafayette, Penn State, Dickinson, Gettysburg, Bucknell, W. and J., Lehigh, W. U. P., Geneva, Villanova, Lebanon Valley and Swathmore, and has noted carefully through the newspapers records of the other ten teams, as well as the work of their individual members. The selections as made above are the result of a close estimate of the value of each player to the team, and with a view of providing each eleven with a first-class punter and drop-kicker, as well as a good field general at quarter-back. Either of the elevens picked would prove a fit opponent for the best in the land this season. Directly after the close of the season a re-selection, if such be necessary, will be made of these elevens, with complete write ups of the individual players, and reasons why each is chosen to represent "All-Pennsylvania."

All Gaul is divided into three parts: cheek, cast-iron nerve and brass.
