The Game.

State 6, Dickinson 0, this is the story of another glorious victory over our ancient enemies from Carlisle. It all happened at Williamsport last Saturday, and 8000 people were there to see just how it was done, among them almost one thousand who waved banners of "White and Blue," and they surely had ample opportunity to flaunt the colors, and shout the praises of "Old Penn State." For truly, Captain Yeckley and his men met a most valiant foe, and most courageously did "Old State" struggle for her victory. Never has a Dickinson eleven opposed State with more spirit and determination than was displayed by Captain Davis' team; and, with a perfectly dry field and no wind, State simply won by playing stronger, better football. Robinson, Salter, Davis, and Viebahn played magnificently for Dickinson, while every son of "Old Penn State" did noble work and aided in the gaining of our proud victory. Here is the detailed story of the game:

FIRST HALF

Captain Davis kicked off for Dickinson in splendid fashion, the sailing far over State's goal ball. Miller, for State, then kicked out from the 25 yard line to Simpson in mid-field, and Barr nailed him without gain. Robinson gained one yard at tackle, Klingstine 4, and Umpire Dunbar allowed 5 more yards for State's offside play. Viebahn then hit the line for 1, Robinson failed at center, and the giant Davis fell back for what proved to be a "fake" kick. But our leader, Yeckley, was into the play like a thunderbolt, Railroad Accident.

The trip from Williamsport last Saturday night was marred by an accident on the Bellefonte Central R. R. which might have resulted fatally. As the train of ten coaches drawn by two engines was rounding the "Y", the rails spread apart and several coaches were derailed. Before the engines had gone very far the train tore apart and the air brakes stopped the coaches. This was the only thing which saved the train from being thrown over the embankment which at this point is about six feet high.

This incident emphasises once more the fact that the road bed of the B. C. R. R. should be repaired at once. At present, this railroad is a menace to the traveling public.

Generator Installed.

After much delay on the part of the manufacturers the alternator to furnish current for the Nittany Light Company has been installed. The machine was built by the Crocker-Wheeler Company and has a capacity of seventy-five kilo-volt-amperes. It is of the revolving field type there being twenty-six poles in number. It will furnish two phase current at a pressure of twenty-three hundred volts and a frequency of sixty. A small four and a half kilowatt four pole dynamo, made by the same company, will furnish direct current for the fields and is connected to the generator by belt. A complete description of the new plant will be given in a later issue.

The football game with the University of West Virginia will be played on Pennsylvania Day, Friday instead of Saturday this week.

Pennsylvania Day.

In accordance with what has become an established custom at State College, tomorrow November 24th will be observed with appropriate exercises as Pennsylvania Day. Although the same distinguished guests whose presence here made the last observance of this occasion one of especial interest and enjoyment, will not be with us this time, the program will nevertheless, not be lacking in either interest or notable personages. The speakers of the day, Mr. Joseph M. Huston and Mr. J. Horace McFarland are both men of national reputation in their respective lines of work. Mr. Huston is the proprietor of the Mt. Pleasant Press, and the author of that magnificent work, "The Trees of Pennsylvania," and is one of the very foremost literary men of America.

Mr. McFarland is the architect of the capitol at Harrisburg and to those who have seen this magnificent structure no more need be said.

In the afternoon the battalion will be reviewed by our old friend, General Miller. For the benefit of the freshman it may be well to state that General Miller is the Major General in command of the national guard of Pennsylvania, and has always taken a friendly interest in the affairs of State College.
