

Retirement of President Atherton.

pus, in the size and character of the student body which increases every year, and in the eagerness with which men throughout the Union seek after State's graduates. There is doubt whether any other man during the same length of time and under the same conditions could have accomplished more than Dr. Atherton has done. Three magnificent buildings obtained in as many years is a record of which any college president may well be proud.

The executive committee of the Board of Trustees has appointed a sub-committee to take the subject of the election of a President into consideration. It is the hope of this committee that by the coming Commencement or the opening of the next college year some one will be found who can take up the work where it has been left off. In the meantime, during Dr. Atherton's leave of absence the active duties of president will be performed by Dr. Buckhout, vice-president of the College.
