

COLLEGE ORBIT.

One of the new requirements of the University of Pennsylvania Law School is that no student may enter who is not twenty years of age.

President Eliot of Harvard says it would take a man forty years to complete the two hundred nineteen courses offered in that University.

President James, of the University of Illinois, announces the establishment at Urbana of a new school of railway engineering. It will be open for work next September.

Thirty-two students of Nevada University have been arrested and will be tried for hazing. The warrants were gotten out by the father of a Freshman who was ducked for not joining in the college yells.

The University of Virginia has decided that after 1907 no professional coaches will be employed, and that no athlete can participate in an inter-collegiate game who has not been a student at least five months.

At Nebraska a new upperclass society is being organized. The members are to be elected by the vote of the non-fraternity students only, although members of fraternities may be elected members of the new society.

The University of Pennsylvania has recently lost a number of her best candidates for the track team. The same hoodoo that pursued her football team seems to be after the other teams. They are leaving there to go to other universities.

On Thursday, Feb. 22nd, John Hopkins University celebrated its thirtieth anniversary. Thirty years ago John Hopkins, a Baltimore citizen, bequeathed $7,000,000 for the founding of a university and hospital. Dr. D. C. Gilman was the first president.

Pennsylvania has a new dormitory which is almost ready for occupancy. The funds used in its construction were given by E. B. Coxe, Jr. The new building will accommodate 50 men, making the dormitory population of the university consist of about 700 men.

It has been suggested that a public square be condemned near the University of Pennsylvania and that the city of Philadelphia co-operate with the State and the University in the erection of a suitable statue to William Penn, with the ultimate purpose of having the remains of Penn disinterred in England and buried in this park.—Ex.

A committee of the Junior Class has been appointed at Yale, to report next term either on the "Honor System" of examinations or some other plan to create a sentiment against cribbing. One division in Sociology has signed a pledge against the practice.—Ex. The honor system will hardly succeed when it is necessary to sign a pledge to put in in force.—Ed.

Instead of the annual hair cutting war between the Freshmen and Sophomores at the University of Michigan, which has caused many serious injuries, it has been decided to have a tug-of war across the Huron river. One hundred men will be chosen from each class and stationed on each side of the river. A long rope will be utilized, and one class or the other will be dragged through the river.

There is a chance that Harvard may abandon tennis this fall. While a game was in progress a spectator was struck in the eye by a peeled lemon, hurled from some unknown source. The eye is a total loss, but the lemon will recover. The incident, however, has convinced President Eliot and the athletic board that tennis as now played must either be reformed or abolished in toto.—Harvard Crimson.
