President Atherton Ill.

For the last week or so Dr. Atherton has been confined to his bed with serious illness. Soon after his return home he visited the Governor at Harrisburg to confer with him regarding the Adam's Bill, recently passed in Congress. This trip was probably a bad thing for his weak state, for a few days after his return he took to his bed. At the present writing he is much better, and the doctors feel considerably relieved.

Class Election.

At the election of the Junior class last Monday evening the following men were elected to serve during the Senior year: Pres., Wm. Wray; Vice-Pres., D. R. Gift; Sec., J. E. Lenker; Treas., L. C. Shank.

Base Ball.

The recent Eastern baseball trip proved remarkable successful. Four difficult games were played in as many days, and decisive victories gained over West Point, Fordham, and Dickinson, while with a good umpire and a trifle less hard luck, the 3 to 2 game taken by Yale would also have gone to "the wearers of the White and Blue." Not once during the present season have State's men complained about "a bum umpire," but Mr. Beecher, who handled the indicator in the recent Yale game, was so palpably incompetent, that his decisions spoiled that otherwise good game. A week previous to the State game this same official umpired the Yale—Holy Cross game, which almost ended in a riot, because of his raw decisions, so that the Yale manager should have certainly looked after a new man for the State contest. It will be remembered that last fall in football all the Eastern papers were strong in their denunciation of the poor work of the referee in the State—Yale game. It appears that "Old Eli" should "wake-up," and get competent, impartial officials appointed to take charge of her home games, as is the practice at Princeton, Cornell etc.

However, as regards this game, State's player cannot blame their defeat entirely upon the poor umpiring, since slow fielding was the main factor in Yale's victory. During preliminary practice, short stop Cree sprained his arm, and could scarcely throw across the diamond. This mishap resulted in several of State's errors, which, coupled with some ragged slow fielding, allowed
