

Dr. Wadsworth Entertains the Senior Miners.

Last Friday night Dr. Wadsworth gathered together his students in the Senior class and entertained them with an informal banquet at his residence. Every "Miner" present did full justice to the elaborate menu—in fact, several distinguished themselves. The menu cards were blue prints of a very neat and appropriate design. After the tables had been cleared and the men had lit their cigars, toastmaster A. M. Clay called for the following toasts.—"1906 and Faculty During the Strike," G. J. R. McGee; "Blooming 1906 Miners," R. M. Caswell; "Oars and Mettles," C. P. Linville; "Random Thoughts," R. P. Farrington; "Fossils," L. B. Smith; "Past, Present and Future," Dr. Wadsworth. Each toast was well received. Dr. Wadsworth was the life of the evening, and his faculty of entertaining was at its best.

Natural History Club Banquet.

The Natural History Club decided last Friday evening to substitute food for the inner man instead of the deep scientific research which forms the usual order of proceedings at their meetings. The feed was held at the track house. "Bill" Slater '07, the toastmaster, called upon a number of those present for extemporaneous "spouts," when the edibles had been dispensed with. There were eighteen members present and of these, Professors Buckhout, Surface, Rentscher, Braman and Pillsbury represented the faculty.
