

Coming Games.

The Villanova game this Saturday will doubtless prove a mighty tough one, as the Villanovans have shown their strength by holding the Carlisle Indians, 6 to 0, and Swarthmore, 4 to 0! We need every student out for this game to encourage our team.

After Villanova comes the battle with the Midshipmen at Annapolis, and the hard game which the Navy always puts up is too well known by State men to require any comment. But we feel that no matter how good the Navy may be, our 'Varsity will prove just a little stronger!

This coming game makes State's tenth annual battle with the Midshipmen. Here is the complete record:

Year	State	Annapolis	Played at Annapolis
1894	6	6	Annapolis
1897	0	16	"
1898	11	16	"
1899	0	6	"
1901	11	6	"
1902	6	0	"
1903	17	0	"
1904	9	20	"
1905	5	11	"

State -- Won 4, Lost 5, Tied 1.

Every game played has been a close struggle, and a cleanly played one, giving the future admirals good cause to look forward to the Penn State game as the most interesting of the year, excepting only the annual bout with West Point.

For the past two years, State's elevens under Captains Forkum and Yeckley have failed to play up to their best standard against the great strength of Annapolis, consequently defeat has resulted; but State is due to carry off the laurels this season, and Captain "Mother" Dunn intends to have his sons in first class shape for this struggle.

Annapolis and Penn State are now annual contestants in all the chief branches of college sports; foot ball, base ball, and track, and the students of each institution hail with delight every victory gained by their 'Varsity representatives. In foot ball Annapolis has a bit the better of us in victories gained; in base ball State has twice walloped the Middies; while in track athletics the Navy gained a rather one-sided triumph over State's team last spring. Thus by reason of such a constant rivalry in all branches of athletics it is readily understood why a victory over Annapolis has come to mean so much to all loyal State men, past and present. And next Saturday, the White and Blue warriors will demonstrate to the Middies that the men on State's 'Varsity are just as plucky, skilful, determined and sportsmanlike as in past years.
