

such will be the case this year.

The Sophomores have elected C. N. Arnold, captain and C. R. Martz, manager. Arnold has been playing tackle on the Scrubs all season and will probably play the same position in the game. It is strange to say that the Sophomores will not be represented by a single Varsity man, while the Freshmen have four to their credit. However, the Scrubs contain a large percentage of Sophomore material which will undoubtedly show up strong on Saturday. Such players as Yeckley, Arnold, Lindemuth, Mitchell, Skemp, and Allen, together with Miller and Reece of last year's team will be the mainstays for the Sophomores. Practice commenced last Friday, but the work began in dead earnest on Monday afternoon.

The Freshmen have been engaged in light practice for the past two weeks and the showing made so far is a good one. Although no very heavy men have been found among the candidates, the prospects for a strong team are exceedingly bright since four Varsity players are Freshmen. F. M. Smith has been elected manager. The Freshmen will land such strong players as McCleary, Hirshman, Maxwell, Vorhis, and Coulson from the Varsity and Ayers, Jones, Waters and Barnett from the scrubs. All these players are good ones and they will add greatly to prospects of the new men.

Football Banquet.

The Thanksgiving evening banquet in the Fort Pitt was the closing event of the most glorious gridiron season Penn State has ever had; but around this memorable festal board there reigned an air of sadness and regret, rather than any hilarity over the day's great victory. For with "Mother" Dunn, acting as toastmaster, and calling one after another upon the men who have played their last game under the White and Blue, Gotwals, Wray, Kunkle, Henry, Partridge, and McWilliams, it seemed, after all, a mighty sad thing that such superb men and comrades as these had that afternoon played together, shoulder to shoulder, for the last time in their lives. And then, when "Tommy" Fennell, "Pop" Golden, Earl Hewitt, Arbuthnot, Manager Thompson, Barr, Jack Elder, and Whitworth added their tributes to the splendid character of the members of State's Varsity; and why it is, that such a team, under such a captain as "Mother" Dunn, can never really be defeated, the hearts of all present were thrilled with the old State football spirit.

Look at the Collar

of a Hart Schaffner & Marx Coat. Observe its clean, flat set at the neck and chest. Notice the admirable shoulder-drape. See when the coat is open, how finely it hangs. And then remember that these are lasting qualities in Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes—they're put in to stay—sewed right into the garments. The wear of the fit is just as important as the wear of the cloth. You get both in Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes.

The coat illustrated is a roomy coat, comfortable, stylish yet conservative, cut in three different lengths, materials of Melton, Scotch, Frieze, Vicuna and Scotch, in Black, Oxford and Herring bone patterns.

There's not an overcoat style that you've a hankering for that we can't supply.

Copyright 1906 by
Hart Schaffner & Marx

SIM, the Clothier

Correct Attire for Men

J. G. J. STOLL, Representative, 584 Main

BELLEFONTE, PA