EDITORIAL.

The result of the recent basketball trip of last week has made it impossible to overlook any longer the condition of this sport at State. As matters now stand the team is not getting a square deal at the hands of the athletic association. We have now, or could develop, a team that would be well able to uphold the high standard that our football and baseball teams have established by the splendid work of the past few years, but on account of the lack of support and training, basketball teams are severely handicapped. We do not like to be defeated by colleges that we could easily defeat with a little coaching. Although this is not true of all the teams met on the recent trip, it undoubtedly applies to some of them. Disastrous as the trip was, Captain Waha and his men deserve great credit for their uphill work under such adverse conditions; they have shown that they are not "quitters."

If a competent coach had been engaged for a few weeks at the beginning of the season instead of leaving Captain Waha to struggle single-handed with the work of developing an entire new team, the season would doubtless have been much more successful. If we are to maintain a basketball team, by all means let us take it more seriously, and make it a credit to State's athletic abilities.

All freshmen who wish to compete for positions on the Collegian board please hand their names to the editor or drop in 323 Main. It is especially desired that men capable of covering athletic work will come forward. As this is an important position the board would like to have a large list of candidates from which to choose. It costs nothing to try.

If any student at State has the idea that the La Vie is a publication by the junior class the sooner he gets rid of that thought the better. The entire four classes—yes, and the preps, too—are vitally interested in this book for it deals exclusively with the results of one whole year in the life of "Old State," and every freshman has had in that life as large a part as any upper classman.

The La Vie is not, and of right ought not to be, a publication of, by, and for the juniors but belongs to all State men as a representative product of the college.

If the editors might perform their duties as per Noah Webster's dictionary, they would edit and do nothing else (and that's no "cinch"); but as a great many men do not take enough sincere interest in the project to contribute something, these poor editors, who are mortals like the rest of us, have to do several jobs at the same time, and then bear the blame if they do not turn out something truly wonderful.

Help them along! Get busy! Go now and get your pen and begin some story or hand in a funny joke or a drawing of some kind. Show an interest in everything and your participation will do you good.
