A Warm Debate.

The discussion at the regular meeting of the Debating club last Saturday evening was the most spirited one that has taken place for some time. The question was: Resolved, That the two cent railroad fare bill should become a law of Pennsylvania. McCready and Borland, who took the place of Messersmith, who was absent, defended the question; and Runk and Tomlison were on the negative. The affirmative was awarded the decision. Borland talked on parliamentary law and Rhoads on current events.

Braucher was reinstated on the inter-collegiate debating team as he has found that he can give the necessary time to the work. The trials for the position of alternate on the team will be held on Saturday March 23rd.

Natural History Club.

Two very interesting addresses were made before the club at the meeting last week. Mr. C. E. Myers, '08 spoke on "The Honey Bee," dealing more particularly upon the structural features of the legs and wings, and also explaining the internal parts of the sting.

"Nesting Habits of Birds" was the subject chosen by Mr. J. K. Musgrove, '09, and he told of many ingenious devices by which birds build, and often conceal their nests. A field class is being formed to study our native birds during the spring months.
