EDITORIAL.

The circulation of false reports as to the scores of both the West Point and Villanova games last week has brought forcibly to our attention the present system, or lack of system, in regard to this matter. Not only should those who spread such reports be severely dealt with, but some trustworthy method of announcing the scores should be devised. The entire student body of this institution is interested in the results of contests—athletic, debating, or anything in which we compete, and has a right to know promptly and with certainty the outcome of these contests. If telegrams were sent to some responsible person, who alone would have authority to announce them, no credence would be given to reports from other sources, and we would be spared the necessity of waiting for the daily paper to learn how our varsity teams fared. This matter should be definitely settled before the coming baseball trip, which includes the important games with Pennsylvania, Princeton and Lafayette.

As will be noted at the head of this page, two new men, A. W. Fisher, '10, and K. H. Lohmann, '10, have been elected to positions on the editorial staff. These men have been thoroughly tried out, and their work has proved satisfactory in every respect. Probably two others will be added to the board soon after the beginning of the next college year, and with this increase to take the place of the men who leave this year, we feel confident that we can produce a good paper. We shall aim not only to make the paper as good as it has ever been in past, but a little better. With this aim in view, we need your support—the payment of your subscriptions and your co-operation in the matter of news.

The football schedule for next season, as published in this issue, is by far the strongest and the best that Penn State has ever arranged to play. While the Yale game has been discontinued, one has been arranged with Cornell, and the game with the University of Pennsylvania is practically settled. In addition to these, a game with Swarthmore is probable, in which case the date with West Virginia will be changed.

This strong schedule is an indication of the growing reputation of our athletic teams throughout the eastern states.

The Co-eds Perform.

The very creditable production by the co-eds of two short plays, "The Ghost of an Idea" and "The Minister's Wife," given last Friday evening, was a decided novelty in the way of entertainment. In spite of the general excellence of the entire performance several parts were exceptionally well played, among which were Miss Meek's animated portrayal of a vivacious school girl and Miss Kichline's clever impersonation of Topsy, the colored maid. The star of the evening, however, was Miss Clara Pond. Her work had a steadiness and ease such as usually comes only after long experience. The chorus was perhaps not up to the standard of the rest of the entertainment, but on the whole the entire production was excellent.
