STATE COLLEGE, PA., OCTOBER 3, 1907.

Price Five Cents

Ho! Ho! For Williamsport.

Two days yet remain until the White meets the Red in what promises to be one of the hardest fought battles ever witnessed on an American gridiron. State was one of the three teams who beat the Indians last year and for three weeks the Redskins have been practicing to avenge that defeat. The whole band from Carlisle will accompany play! You have to experience the feeling at a time like that; you can't imagine it. It is at such a time, if never before, that a man begins to feel the kind of pride for his college that General Beaver and "Tom" Fennell would have us possess.

Of the reasons advanced for not seeing this game the financial one is most often heard. The fare to Williamsport will not exceed $2.60 which with fifty cents admission to through the streets of Williamsport. The town is yours while you are there and Captain Burns and his followers need your help if we are to win on Saturday. Come along and help.

FOOTBALL.

In a well contested game of football State defeated the Geneva College eleven on Beaver field last Saturday. The Geneva team proved their team to cheer them on to victory.

Meanwhile, what are we going to do? Anyone of the 500 fellows who accompanied "Mother" Dunn and his team last year will tell of the sensations he experienced as the pigskin cleared the bar from "Bull" McCleary's field goal. How those bleachers rose, how those pennants and hats filled the air, and how State's rooters did yell after that the game makes the necessary outlay not over $3.15. Some say they have not the time to spare. Of the men who have gone in previous years we have yet to hear the first one say that he regrets spending the day at this game.

"State spirit" says that when the special train leaves on Saturday morning there should be at least 800 rooters on it, ready to drop in line behind the band as it marches to be a harder proposition than was expected and held Captain Burns' warriors to a hard fought game. State was several times penalized for holding and offside playing but a series of fine runs by Burns, McCleary and Vorhis kept the result of the game from being doubtful at any time.

At the whistle Galvin made a poor kick off to Cyphers who ran back 5 yards. Campbell got 15 around
