

Trials for the Collegian Board.

By reason of changes in the staff of the Collegian, positions are open on the editorial board which must be filled. As in the past these positions will be filled by competitive trials. Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores are eligible, and the men showing the best all-around ability will be chosen.

We wish to emphasize the fact that while literary ability has considerable weight in this choice, the willingness to do faithful, consistent work is an essential qualification. Each man may rest assured that his work will receive careful consideration, and that absolutely no favoritism will be shown. This policy is essential to the success of any publication.

Applications may be dropped in the door of Room 323 Main, after which assignments will be made for the trials. A call for freshmen will be made later in the year. Let every man show his spirit by doing his best!

With Our Opponents.

Reports seem to indicate that most of the games on State's football schedule this year are indeed to be hard struggles. Cornell, one of our most formidable opponents, is in excellent condition. With the exception of their last year's center the team is made up of old men. Dickinson played a very close game with Western Maryland last week and defeated them 6 to 0. The University of Pennsylvania displayed fine team work and freedom from fumbling in Saturday's game against North Carolina, winning with a score of 37 to 0. The victory of the Indians over Villanova last week is attributed to the former's superior speed.

Attention, Debaters!

All who wish to try for the college debating team should hand their names to some member of the committee, Braucher, Gross and Lams, or drop them into the box in room 340, before Friday, Oct. 11.

The question is Resolved: That the referendum and initiative system of enacting legislation should be adopted by Pennsylvania.

Arrangements have been made with the English department whereby all freshmen who try for the team will be excused from their rhetoricals, and all sophomores and juniors will receive credit on their regular work in debates.

The cane rush between the lower classes at Franklin & Marshall resulted in a draw.
