Musical Clubs Concert.

The combined Glee and Mandolin Clubs gave the first concert of the year in the Auditorium last Wednesday evening. The program contained a pleasing variety of selections and was thoroughly enjoyed by those present. The small audience, however, which greeted the clubs at their first appearance was a discouragement, as the members worked faithfully during the three weeks previous and deserved a much larger house.

On the following evening, the clubs gave a concert at the Garman Opera house in Bellefonte. Unfortunately it was Hallowe'en and the clubs suffered a heavy loss financially, because of the poor attendance.

Electrical Inspection Trip.

The annual inspection trip of the senior electricals was started last Friday, the first inspection being made at the steel mills in Steelton. From this place they went to Baltimore and visited the municipal lighting plants and the railway system. Sunday was spent in Washington visiting the government buildings, and on Monday the various electrical industries were inspected. A short time was spent at the Jamestown Exposition on Tuesday, and from there they went to the ship building companies at Newport News and then to Philadelphia.

They will conclude the trip on Saturday at Philadelphia by attending the Penn game in a body. It is probable that they will return to the college on Monday. About thirty students, accompanied by Prof. Jackson, are making the trip.

The Harrisburg Smoker.

A considerable number of old State men attended the smoker given by the Central Pennsylvania Alumni Association at the Engineers club in Harrisburg on Oct. 30. The rooms were decorated with pennants, State colors predominating. Luncheon was served, followed by an hour of reminiscences. The guests of honor included Prof. Wood and a number of seniors and juniors who were engaged on tests in the Capitol. Representatives of almost every class from '86 to '09 were present, including C. R. Potteiger, L. C. Shank, J. C. Ritchey, and P. A. Rainey of the class of 1907.
