The Penn Game.

State suffered a severe defeat at the hands of the University of Pennsylvania last Saturday by the score of 28 to 0. Great interest was taken in this game from the fact that it has been three years since Penn has met State on the gridiron. Consequently when the whistle blew for the start fully 12000 people were massed on Franklin field. About 200 State supporters including undergraduates and alumni did themselves justice in the north stand.

We were unfortunate in losing this game as we have maintained throughout the year that our football team is one of the best in the country. Although Saturday's defeat was decisive, we are still of the same conviction. Captain Burns and his followers put up a snappy contest. The general opinion of those who witnessed the game was that Penn put up an exceptional game and had they played any of the other big teams the result would not have been far different. Our line was impregnable and Penn's gains were made chiefly by running the ends with such an extremely well formed interference that our secondary defence was often necessary to bring down the runner. The forward pass was also used effectively for large gains by the Quakers who seemed to have improved in this since their defeat by the Indians. An unusual amount of rough play was evident as compared with State's other contests of the year.

Cyphers appeared to have no trouble in going through any place he tried in Penn's line and was perhaps the star for the White and Blue. McCleary fulfilled all the conditions that gained him his name "Bull," while Welsh and Smith were tackling sure and hard. Hirshman played the game in old time form until his injured shoulder caused his retirement.

Will You Help?

The Glee and Mandolin Clubs have arranged for an engagement at Pittsburg on Friday, Nov. 29, the day after the W. U. P. game. In order to bring this entertainment to the attention of Pittsburg friends the managers are having small announcements printed which will be suitable for mailing to friends. It is desired that the students cooperate with the management by sending some of these announcements to their friends in and near Pittsburg. The cards may be secured from the members of the club any time after Friday of this week.

Our Foreign Students.

The Latin Club, organized last year by our foreign students, has been reorganized for the present year. Domingo Panaini was elected president; Francisco G. de Quevedo, vice-president; and Juan Diaz, secretary and treasurer. In order to make future meetings both interesting and instructive it was decided that each member be prepared to speak on some literary or scientific topic.

The First Free Lecture.

The Committee in charge of the State College Free Lecture Course have secured the Rev. Isaac J. Lansing, D. D., of Scranton, Pa., as the first lecturer. At 8 o'clock on Friday evening, November 15, Dr. Lansing will deliver, in the College Auditorium, a lecture entitled "Through a Barred Window." The doors will be opened at 7.30 o'clock.

Dr. Lansing is a man of unusual ability and broad experience. He merits the title of preacher, reformer, educator, publicist, and orator. He has been pastor of some of the largest churches in New York city and was for some years minister in charge of the famous Park Street Church in Boston. He is a man of noble purposes and rare scholarship. Few men have greater gifts as public speakers; he exercises a remarkable power over his audience. He will surely say something worth listening to, and will say it eloquently and impressively.

All the seats in the Auditorium are free to the students, the faculty, and the townspeople. It is hoped that a large audience will greet Dr. Lansing. Those who know him as an eloquent and inspiring speaker are sure that all who come to hear him will feel more than repaid.

Alumni Dinner.

The annual fall dinner of the New England Alumni Association will be held at the American House, Boston, Mass., on Saturday evening Nov. 16 at 6.30 P. M. All alumni and undergraduates who are in the vicinity of Boston at that time are cordially invited to be present.
