Two New Deans.

Two important changes have just been arranged for in the School of Engineering, namely, the appointments of Professor J. P. Jackson as Dean of the School of Engineering for the remainder of the present college year, and of Professor Hugo Diemer as Dean of the Mechanical Department.

Professor Jackson needs no introduction to our student body. As head of the Electrical Department he has placed the work on a sound basis, and there is no doubt that he will fill the new position equally well.

Professor Diemer, like our new president, Dr. Sparks, is a graduate of Ohio State University, receiving his degree of M. E. in 1897. During the year 1899-1900 he was in charge of the Mechanical Department of the North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanics College. The following year he was assistant professor of Mechanical Engineering in Michigan Agricultural College. From 1901 to 1904 he was in charge of the Mechanical Department of the University of Kansas. Since that time he has been a consulting expert for a number of large corporations in the middle West.

He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education. As an author of engineering literature Prof. Diemer has a wide reputation. He has written a number of articles and pamphlets on engineering topics, some of which have been translated into French and German and published abroad. A complete list of his works will be published in a later issue.

Prof. Diemer will take up the work of his new position on January 1.

Another Short Course.

What promises to be a successful departure in college work this year is a short course in Home Economics. The course will be opened on January seventh and will last twelve weeks. The subjects to be taught both by laboratory work and lecture will include cooking, sewing, household management, laundry work, and others. Miss Lovejoy has been canvassing a number of the high schools in the state in behalf of the department and prospects seem bright for a good enrollment.
