Y. M. C. A. Notes.

A real wonder worker and a genuine heap big smoke Indian in one: this is a combination to attract the most confirmed grind in college. Shungopavi, the Indian Magician, gives his original and starting exhibition of magic in the Auditorium on Saturday evening, the 7th, the entertainment being the third number of the Y. M. C. A. course. Shungopavi departs very far from the usual run of magicians, and his two great specialties are original in the extreme. The one who is able to explain either the Vanishing Indian or the Cremation of Shungopavi is a person able to "go some." Shungopavi is supported by a reader and violinist. Reserved seats are now on sale at Meek's and the good ones are going fast. Jot the hour down where you will not forget it: Saturday, Dec. 7, at 8 p. m. in the Auditorium.

Mr. Frank V. Slack, who is to speak at the Association meeting on next Sunday evening, is the Traveling Secretary of the International Committee in the East, his territory including the New England and North Atlantic states. Mr. Slack comes to State College from Johns Hopkins University.

The Association was represented at the International Convention recently held in Washington, D. C., by J. F. Mattern, '10, and Secretary Wilber.

Interclass Football.

The Sophomore-Freshman football game which is scheduled for next Saturday has every prospect of being an unusually exciting contest. So evenly matched do the teams appear to be at this time that no disinterested person will venture to predict the result. The suggestion has been made that all varsity men be disqualified for this game, but no definite action has been taken.

The call for candidates for the sophomore team brought forth thirty five men among whom there is an abundance of good material. After being coached by McCleary, Hirshman, Maxwell, Vorhis, and a number of seniors, the pick of these candidates should constitute one of the strongest teams ever sent on Beaver Field by any class.

Among the forty odd freshmen who report for practice every day there are a number of promising men for the different positions. With Barnett, Coulson, Brown, Gray, Ludwig, Martin, McClellan and others who have played on either varsity or scrub, all trying for places on their class team, a strong freshmen team is a certainty. Cyphers, Lindemuth, Haven, Arnold, Workman, Fuhs, and others are lending their assistance in getting the team into shape.

International Convention.

The 36th International convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations of North America was held in Washington, D. C., on Nov 22-26. Two thousand delegates were present from North America, and twenty from foreign nations. The business sessions were marked by acuteness of debate, but entire freedom from bitterness. The most important business transacted was the alteration of the basis of membership for student associations. A trip to Mt. Vernon and reception by President Roosevelt were features of the convention. Among the speakers were: Ambassador Bryce, of England; Secretaries Cortelyou and Straus, William J. Bryan, Gov. Glenn, of North Carolina, Editor Macdonald of Toronto, Canada, Judge Spencer, of St. Louis, Doctors Hall, of New York, Bosworth of Oberlin, Ohio, and Grenfell of Labrador, Messrs. Speer and Mort of New York, Virgo of Sydney, Australia, Sarasin Warnery, of Geneva, Switzerland, and Bishop McDowell of Chicago.
