

Prof. Butz was born at New Castle, Pa., in 1863, and was therefore forty four years old. Having prepared for college at the New Castle High School, he graduated from Penn State in 1883 in the Agricultural course. Shortly after graduation he was appointed Instructor in the Preparatory department which position he held for four years. In 1887 he was made Assistant Professor and in 1903 Professor of Horticulture of this college which position he held at the time of his death.

Shortly after graduation, Prof. Butz went to California, being attracted by the horticultural field which seemed to offer the best chances for success at that time. When the Pennsylvania State Experiment Station was established here, Prof. Butz was induced to return to serve as its Horticulturist. He was eminently fitted to serve in this capacity, for his father was a florist and the early training of Prof. Butz in his father's vocation gave him an excellent foundation on which to lay the college training which fitted him for his life work. A fine example of the practical training of Prof. Butz is our campus, for the laying out of which he was mainly responsible.

Prof. Butz was a prominent member of the Presbyterian church of State College, being engaged in all church activities as long as his health permitted. He was an interested and energetic worker in town affairs and his name is prominently connected with the local improvements of the last few years. His home life was ideal, being marked by great devotion to his wife and children. He was always genial and pleasant in his relations
